Kennedy Urges Military Power, Not Tough Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said Tuesday the way to face up to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's challenge is not through swapping tough talk but by building up U.S. military power and strengthening the free world.

Thus, Kennedy took to the Senate floor in his battle for the Democratic nomination, disputing claims that at 43 he is not experienced nor tough enough to deal with Khrushchev.

He also tore into the Eisenhower administration's handling of the summit conference, saying it sent to Paris a delegation ill prepared —without fresh ideas and with "Obsolete policies and meaningless slogans." In light of this the meeting would have foundered, Kennedy said, even if Khrushchev had not wrecked it.

Galleries Packed

The Senate galleries were packed as Kennedy gave his own formula for dealing with various problems. About a score of Kennedy's colleagues, including half a dozen Republicans, were in their seats.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer who is expected to be Republican candidate for president, was absent.

One Republican, Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana, replied that Kennedy's speech may raise false hopes abroad "because it is promising the world with a fence around it to all the peoples of the world."

"You have covered the entire waterfront," Capehart told Kennedy. "You have promised something to everybody in the world. I don't know where we are going to get the money to do it. I can't compliment your speech."

Kennedy replied: "I am complimented by the fact that the senator cannot compliment me."

Peace Through Strength

The issue, Kennedy said, is not who can "best swap threats and insults—the real issue is who can best stand up and summon America's vast resources to the defense of freedom against the most dangerous threat it ever faced."

Saying America must have the world's greatest striking power, Kennedy said the nation's military strength must be rebuilt to convince Khrushchev that a peaceful settlement is essential to mutual survival. This, he said, must be accompanied by the formation of long-term policies aimed at increasing the strength of the free world.

"Neither Camp David talks nor kitchen debates will compel Khrushchev to enter fruitful negotiations," Kennedy declared. This was a reference to the Camp David, Md., talks between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower and the debate between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Khrushchev at a kitchen display in the U.S. exhibit in Moscow last summer.

Eisenhower, Garcia Begin Business Talks

MANILA (AP) —President Eisenhower plunged into business talks with President Carlos P. Garcia Wednesday with a near hysterical welcome from 1½ to three million Filipinos still ringing in his ears.

Cheering, smiling crowds that at times surged out of police control gave the President the biggest ovation of his career when he arrived here Tuesday.

On tap were two hours of talks that could touch on Garcia's requests for modern nuclear weapons for the islands' defense and for increased American economic aid.

Eisenhower, his perspiring face peppered with confetti and gaily colored serpentine streamers, rode 10 miles Tuesday through milling, cheering and absolutely delighted crowds. Hot weather only warmed up the welcome. It was 85 and humid.

Official estimates of the turnout ranged from 1½ to 3 million. Just about everyone in the city and for miles around poured into the streets for an affectionate "welcome home" greeting to the world leader who once was stationed here as an obscure Army officer.

Matches New Delhi Welcome

This welcome matched the one that greeted Eisenhower in New Delhi, India, last December. The President himself said then he had never seen anything like the crowd of around two millions who greeted him.

But the Filipinos—freed by the United States only 14 years ago from generations of first Spanish and then American colonial rule—surpassed in sheer exuberance anything Eisenhower has ever seen.

Despite Manila's muggy temperatures, people jammed on the side walks in what must have seemed like a steam bath. They smiled, laughed and just plain celebrated. When the confetti got too tame for them some people threw boxes.

Youngsters snaked through the procession on bicycles. Children ran alongside Eisenhower's car for a mile or so and dropped out. Others replaced them. A bunch of teen-agers got hold of a fire engine and rode it in the procession for several miles.

Garcia Reminisces

The 69-year-old President, first U.S. chief executive to visit the Far East, was hailed as a home town boy who made good. Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia struck that note on greeting Eisenhower: "Welcome home"!'

Referring to Eisenhower's tour as an aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, then adviser to the Philippine armed forces, Garcia said: "We remember you as the Army officer who came to us way back in 1935 to help organize our national defense. You are not a stranger to these multitudes who today are acclaiming you. You have made lasting friendships among them."

Garcia, in praising Eisenhower and the United States, disregarded pressures that sometimes make it expedient for Filipino politicians to strike an unfriendly tone toward America.

"We assure you and the great American people you lead, as well as the free nations that have identified themselves with the great cause, that the Philippines is and ever will be a staunch friend and ally," he said.

In response, Eisenhower declared that "no petty differences of any kind can ever tear apart these two great countries."

U.S.-Japanese Pact Approved By Senate Unit

The quick action set the stage for possible Senate ratification before President Eisenhower begins his visit to Japan on Sunday. Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) told newsmen he hopes for a Senate vote on Thursday. He added that so far as he knows there is no opposition in the Senate to ratification.

The treaty will place Japan firmly on the side of the free world as a U.S. ally for the next 10 years, with one additional year required before it can be denounced. In return for bases and facilities in Japan, the United States is pledged to come to Japan's defense if it is attacked.

The closed door vote on sending the measure to the Senate floor was 14-0 with three members absent. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), one of the absentees later added his "aye" note.

The treaty sparked the anti-American riots in Japan that face Eisenhower with possible danger during his visit there next week.

The Socialist party wants the Japanese Parliament dissolved to prevent automatic ratification Sunday, so an election can be conducted with the treaty as an issue.

There have been reports in Japan of a possible truce between Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government and the Socialista to take the heat off during Eisenhower's visit.

Demonstrate Against U.S. Pact; 26 Hurt

But Fears For Ike Safety During His Visit Seen Easing

TOKYO (AP) — Another big demonstration against the government of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and the alliance with the United States began in Japan Wednesday.

Twenty-six persons were reported hurt in early clashes.

Officials drafted what they hoped would be airtight security arrangements to prevent any danger to the President and Socialist and left-wing labor groups were reported ready to abandon plans for massive demonstrations at the airport and along the motorcade route. They feared public reaction would be against them.

But the leftist front said it would turn 5,800,000 people into the streets of Japan's major cities and march on Parliament in Tokyo Wednesday.

Sohyo, Japan's largest labor group which claims 3½ million workers, called a two-hour freight strike and workshop rallies throughout the country.

10 Hurt In Another Melee

Ten were hurt in another clash when the rail authorities tried to recapture a control tower seized by unionists at Utsunomiya, north of Tokyo.

Plans for preventing any violence during arrival ceremonies for Eisenhower included the barring of groups with hostile intentions from the airport and motorcade route.

The pro-Communist student federation Zengakuren and some leftist labor unions may be prevented from even approaching streets near the motorcade route.

Security officials were optimistic.

"We are saying a prayer and keeping our fingers crossed," an American officer said.

The shift in strategy apparently stems from the public outcry to the mob violence that exploded against White House press secretary James C. Hagerty when he arrived here Friday.

The Socialists are said to fear the political consequences of a repetition of the widely criticized incident staged by their Communist or other allies.

Diet Recess Considered

Inejiro Asanuma, chairman of the Socialist party, issued an unofficial statement urging the public to express its opposition to Eisenhower in an orderly way.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's Liberal Democratic party was considering a six- or seven-day recess in the Diet as a means of effecting a truce among its warring factions.

Such a move would help clear the heavily charged political atmosphere and give a boost to chances for Eisenhower's orderly reception by postponing ratification of the hotly disputed U. S.-Japanese mutual aid treaty. Without a recess the treaty goes into effect the day of the President's arrival.

It was agitation over the treaty that sparked the anti-U. S. demonstration last Friday. Socialist opponents to the treaty contend Eisenhower's visit has political implications in that it gives a boost to the Kishi regime.

Powers Wants Wife With Him During Trial

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—Spy plane pilot Francis G. Powers wrote his pretty brunette wife to visit him in a Soviet jail and be with him when he faces trial and possible death for espionage.

Powers' plea to his wife, 24-year-old Barbara Gay Powers, was revealed Tuesday at a press conference at which the substance of a six-page letter the flier wrote to Mrs. Powers May 26 was released.

It was the first detailed information made public as to how Powers has been faring in Russia since he was shot down while on a spy mission over the Soviet Union May 1.

The news conference was conducted by Dr. James Baugh, Mrs. Powers' physician who has been treating her for a nervous condition and a broken leg suffered in a ski accident in Turkey. Baugh released to reporters a statement prepared by Mrs. Powers which contained abstracts from the largely personal letter "originating in Moscow" and received by her May 31.

Powers wrote that he faces from seven years imprisonment to death for flights over the Soviet Union. But he told his wife that he still hopes to build their dream house in the United States.

He said "he has no idea of his fate," but has been informed by Russian authorities he will be tried for espionage under the Soviet's criminal code.

The pilot wrote that Soviet officials had told him any of his relatives would be welcome.

Mrs. Powers had not announced any plans to go to Russia but has not denied she will try to make the trip. Her father-in-law, Oliver Powers of Pound, Va., said Monday he will visit his son in about 60 days.

The statement said Powers "described his first sensation of coming down in his chute and the landing, where he received a minor skin wound of the face."

"He stated he was taken into custody and a lady physician treated his wounds. A few days passed before his appetite returned but he is getting plenty of food and has been treated well."

Wrecked Plane Spotted; Fate Of 13 Unknown

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Wreckage believed to be that of a four-engine airliner with 13 persons aboard was spotted on 9,120-foot-high Mt. Gannett Tuesday.

Elmendorf Air force Base here sent a helicopter to the scene about 60 miles northeast of Whittier, Alaska.

First report that wreckage had been spotted and was believed to be the Pacific Northern Airlines planes came from the Alaskan Command. It was confirmed by the Federal Aviation Agency.

In Seattle, Pacific Northern said it had no information on the report. The airline said the site of the reported wreckage was slightly north of the route the missing plane normally would fly.

Passengers of the plane included the wife of one of Alaska's wealthiest men. The propeller-driven Constellation disappeared in cloudy, drizzly weather after taking off at 6:16 a.m. (PST) from Cordova on the last leg of a Seattle-Anchorage flight.

Search planes and ships fanned out over the 175-mile route from Cordova, which crosses the Gulf of Alaska and the rugged Chugach Mountains dotted with several peaks of nearly 10,000 feet.

Among the eight passengers was Corrine Odom, 42, wife of Milton W. Odom of Anchorage. Odom, wealthy beverage distributor and banker, also has operations in Seattle and Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

Mrs. Odom was returning from a visit with her ailing mother, Ellen Juelson, in Crookston, Minn. She formerly was a nurse at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

NYC Planning Offer To B&O Stockholders

NEW YORK (AP)—Alfred Perlman, president of the New York Central Railroad, Tuesday made another move to block any Baltimore & Ohio-Chesapeake & Ohio railroad merger without inclusion of the Central.

Perlman called a special meeting of Central directors for June 24 to discuss a proposed offer to be made to shareholders of the B&O. Terms of the offer were not disclosed.

B&O stockholders also are being approached by the C&O with an offer. Directors of both the C&O and B&O have approved this offer.

Previously, Perlman had said the emerging rail picture in the East should include two systems with the Central in one and the Pennsylvania in the other. He served notice on the C&O and the B&O that the Central should be included in their merger.

"Blue Angel" Killed In Navy Jet Crash

The Navy said Campanella, 29, from Millburn, N.J., crashed about three miles east of Ft. Morgan, Ala., at the mouth of Mobile Bay. The jet was destroyed.

Long Island RR Strike Scheduled Sunday By BRT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Tuesday ordered a strike against the Long Island Railroad, the nation's busiest commuter road.

The union said that 1,350 conductors, trainmen and brakemen would stop work at 12:01 a.m. e.d.t. Sunday to enforce contract demands.

The railroad announced previously that it would cease operations if a strike occurred because there would not be enough supervisory personnel to maintain service.

Missile Flare Explosion Kills One, Injures 9

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —One person was killed and nine others injured Tuesday when an explosive flare on a Titan intercontinental missile blew up on the ground.

Joseph G. Sibole, 24, of Cocoa Beach, an employe of the Martin Company which makes the Titan, was fatally injured.

Cause of the explosion was not determined but a board of officers began an immediate investigation.

Six of the injured worked for the Martin Company and three were employed by Pan American World Airways.

The accident occurred when a "squib"—a small explosive charge —and a flare package on a Titan being readied for a test firing exploded.

Extent of damage to the 98-foot Titan was not immediately determined.

Whittled Down Housing Bill Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee whittled down its housing bill to $1,381,500,000 Tuesday and sent it to the Senate for early action.

To meet the threat of a presidential veto, the committee trimmed out 200 million dollars, 150 million of it from the 300-million-dollar item for direct loans to veterans and 50 million from the 120-million-dollar fund proposed for farm housing.

The bill still remained much in excess of what President Eisenhower asked.

Its biggest single item is 500 million dollars for loans to build college dormitories. Many college officials have asked for the help, reporting that an expected surge in enrollment can not be handled without it.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed the dormitory proposal, in line with its efforts to balance the federal budget. However, the housing bill Eisenhower signed last year contained 250 million dollars for such loans.

The House passed a billion-dollar housing bill last April. And there were predictions by leading Republicans then that Eisenhower would veto it if it ever reached him. He vetoed two housing bills last year before Congress cut down the money total to suit him.

The bill approved by the Senate committee includes 350 million dollars in grants for city improvement projects such as urban renewal and slum clearance, 100 million for loans to improve city facilities, such as sewage systems and 150 million for the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to buy mortgages covering housing for the elderly, cooperative housing and homes in disaster areas. Also, there is 25 million for direct loans for housing for the elderly.

Work Against Time

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Rains in southern Chile Tuesday handicapped engineers working against time to prevent Lake Rinique from flooding the San Pedro River valley and the city of Valdivia.

Engineers estimated the lake would not overflow for at least another week, despite the rains. They hoped that by that time emergency flood control measures would be far enough advanced to prevent damaging overflow.

Court Partially Paves Way For Hoffa Trial

The three-man appeals court held in effect that it could not issue an injunction to halt the ouster proceeding, which is based upon alleged misuse of union funds.

But the court gave Hoffa another opportunity to block the action. It did this by saying the case could come back before the appeals court on a petition for dismissal.

A three-man court-appointed board of monitors had brought the charges against Hoffa. Federal District Judge Joseph R. Jackson originally had set a date in early May for hearing the case. However, the Circuit Court of Appeals held up the action while it considered Teamster arguments that the case should be thrown out.

New York Still Champ

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Census Bureau reported Tuesday that New York state is still the nation's population champion with a 1960 total of 16,596,507 people.

C&O Asks ICC Authority To Acquire B&O Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. Tuesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to acquire control of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. through an exchange of stock.

C&O also requested permission to acquire, through stock ownership, control of B&O subsidiary or affiliated companies.

In a separate application, the C&O asked authority to issue 2,055,398 shares of its authorized common stock in exchange for outstanding capital stock of the B&O.

The C&O said the managements of the two companies, "looking to the future, desire and are working toward ultimate merger and complete integration of the two railroad properties."

But the application said merger or consolidation is not presently feasible and the separate corporate existence of the B&O should be maintained during a transitional period.

"This period would provide an opportunity for developing the growth of earning power of the Baltimore company and improving its credit, and thus qualify it for ultimate merger," the petition said.

C&O officials said offers were mailed Monday to B&O shareholders, proposing exchange of one share of C&O common stock for each share of B&O preferred and one share of C&O common for each 1¾ shares of B&O common.

The petition emphasized that C&O is seeking control of the B&O and its subsidiaries or affiliates, but does not now propose merger or consolidation and does not now intend to operate or acquire trackage rights over B&O properties.

Navy Admits Plane Flew Over Russ Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy said Tuesday it has found that one of its patrol planes did fly over a Soviet ship off Cuba recently.

But a spokesman at Atlantic Fleet headquarters said the Navy does not know whether this particular flight was the one to which Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro referred last week.

In a blast at the United States, Castro told a TV audience that a twin-engined plane bearing the identification LF128-390 flew over a Soviet ship off Cuba's coast in what he called an act of espionage.

Beaton And Two Others Face Cuban Firing Squad

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — The anti-Castro rebel leader Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices were ordered to death before a firing squad early Wednesday after being quickly convicted of crimes against the Cuban state.

A military tribunal deliberated only 17 minutes Tuesday in reaching its verdict. Within hours a military appeals court upheld their death sentences and set their execution for after midnight at an unspecified site.

Beaton, a former captain in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's army, and his tiny band of insurgents had roamed the mountains of eastern Cuba for more than six months. Hunger drove them into the hands of pursuers last Friday.

Sentenced to die with Beaton were his younger brother, Cipriano Beaton, and Felipe Martinez. Five other insurgents were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 5 to 30 years. Seven youths were ordered to reformatories until they reach maturity. One was acquitted.

The three condemned to death were accused of killing Maj. Francisco Tamayo, a Castro officer who went unarmed into the Oriente hills to persuade the gang to surrender.

Beaton also was sought for the fatal shooting in Havana of Maj. Cristino Noranjo in a still-unexplained exchange of gunfire at the gates of Havana's Camp Libertad last year.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —One person was killed and nine others injured Tuesday when an explosive flare on a Titan intercontinental missile blew up on the ground.

Joseph G. Sibole, 24, of Cocoa Beach, an employe of the Martin Company which makes the Titan, was fatally injured.

Cause of the explosion was not determined but a board of officers began an immediate investigation.

Six of the injured worked for the Martin Company and three were employed by Pan American World Airways.

The accident occurred when a "squib"—a small explosive charge —and a flare package on a Titan being readied for a test firing exploded.

Extent of damage to the 98-foot Titan was not immediately determined.

Whittled Down Housing Bill Sent To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee whittled down its housing bill to $1,381,500,000 Tuesday and sent it to the Senate for early action.

To meet the threat of a presidential veto, the committee trimmed out 200 million dollars, 150 million of it from the 300-million-dollar item for direct loans to veterans and 50 million from the 120-million-dollar fund proposed for farm housing.

The bill still remained much in excess of what President Eisenhower asked.

Its biggest single item is 500 million dollars for loans to build college dormitories. Many college officials have asked for the help, reporting that an expected surge in enrollment can not be handled without it.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed the dormitory proposal, in line with its efforts to balance the federal budget. However, the housing bill Eisenhower signed last year contained 250 million dollars for such loans.

The House passed a billion-dollar housing bill last April. And there were predictions by leading Republicans then that Eisenhower would veto it if it ever reached him. He vetoed two housing bills last year before Congress cut down the money total to suit him.

The bill approved by the Senate committee includes 350 million dollars in grants for city improvement projects such as urban renewal and slum clearance, 100 million for loans to improve city facilities, such as sewage systems and 150 million for the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to buy mortgages covering housing for the elderly, cooperative housing and homes in disaster areas. Also, there is 25 million for direct loans for housing for the elderly.

Demonstrate Against U.S. Pact; 26 Hurt

But Fears For Ike Safety During His Visit Seen Easing

TOKYO (AP) — Another big demonstration against the government of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and the alliance with the United States began in Japan Wednesday.

Twenty-six persons were reported hurt in early clashes.

Officials drafted what they hoped would be airtight security arrangements to prevent any danger to the President and Socialist and left-wing labor groups were reported ready to abandon plans for massive demonstrations at the airport and along the motorcade route. They feared public reaction would be against them.

But the leftist front said it would turn 5,800,000 people into the streets of Japan's major cities and march on Parliament in Tokyo Wednesday.

Sohyo, Japan's largest labor group which claims 3½ million workers, called a two-hour freight strike and workshop rallies throughout the country.

10 Hurt In Another Melee

Ten were hurt in another clash when the rail authorities tried to recapture a control tower seized by unionists at Utsunomiya, north of Tokyo.

Plans for preventing any violence during arrival ceremonies for Eisenhower included the barring of groups with hostile intentions from the airport and motorcade route.

The pro-Communist student federation Zengakuren and some leftist labor unions may be prevented from even approaching streets near the motorcade route.

Security officials were optimistic.

"We are saying a prayer and keeping our fingers crossed," an American officer said.

The shift in strategy apparently stems from the public outcry to the mob violence that exploded against White House press secretary James C. Hagerty when he arrived here Friday.

The Socialists are said to fear the political consequences of a repetition of the widely criticized incident staged by their Communist or other allies.

Diet Recess Considered

Inejiro Asanuma, chairman of the Socialist party, issued an unofficial statement urging the public to express its opposition to Eisenhower in an orderly way.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's Liberal Democratic party was considering a six- or seven-day recess in the Diet as a means of effecting a truce among its warring factions.

Such a move would help clear the heavily charged political atmosphere and give a boost to chances for Eisenhower's orderly reception by postponing ratification of the hotly disputed U. S.-Japanese mutual aid treaty. Without a recess the treaty goes into effect the day of the President's arrival.

It was agitation over the treaty that sparked the anti-U. S. demonstration last Friday. Socialist opponents to the treaty contend Eisenhower's visit has political implications in that it gives a boost to the Kishi regime.

Powers Wants Wife With Him During Trial

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—Spy plane pilot Francis G. Powers wrote his pretty brunette wife to visit him in a Soviet jail and be with him when he faces trial and possible death for espionage.

Powers' plea to his wife, 24-year-old Barbara Gay Powers, was revealed Tuesday at a press conference at which the substance of a six-page letter the flier wrote to Mrs. Powers May 26 was released.

It was the first detailed information made public as to how Powers has been faring in Russia since he was shot down while on a spy mission over the Soviet Union May 1.

The news conference was conducted by Dr. James Baugh, Mrs. Powers' physician who has been treating her for a nervous condition and a broken leg suffered in a ski accident in Turkey. Baugh released to reporters a statement prepared by Mrs. Powers which contained abstracts from the largely personal letter "originating in Moscow" and received by her May 31.

Powers wrote that he faces from seven years imprisonment to death for flights over the Soviet Union. But he told his wife that he still hopes to build their dream house in the United States.

He said "he has no idea of his fate," but has been informed by Russian authorities he will be tried for espionage under the Soviet's criminal code.

The pilot wrote that Soviet officials had told him any of his relatives would be welcome.

Mrs. Powers had not announced any plans to go to Russia but has not denied she will try to make the trip. Her father-in-law, Oliver Powers of Pound, Va., said Monday he will visit his son in about 60 days.

The statement said Powers "described his first sensation of coming down in his chute and the landing, where he received a minor skin wound of the face."

"He stated he was taken into custody and a lady physician treated his wounds. A few days passed before his appetite returned but he is getting plenty of food and has been treated well."

C&O Asks ICC Authority To Acquire B&O Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. Tuesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to acquire control of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. through an exchange of stock.

C&O also requested permission to acquire, through stock ownership, control of B&O subsidiary or affiliated companies.

In a separate application, the C&O asked authority to issue 2,055,398 shares of its authorized common stock in exchange for outstanding capital stock of the B&O.

The C&O said the managements of the two companies, "looking to the future, desire and are working toward ultimate merger and complete integration of the two railroad properties."

But the application said merger or consolidation is not presently feasible and the separate corporate existence of the B&O should be maintained during a transitional period.

"This period would provide an opportunity for developing the growth of earning power of the Baltimore company and improving its credit, and thus qualify it for ultimate merger," the petition said.

C&O officials said offers were mailed Monday to B&O shareholders, proposing exchange of one share of C&O common stock for each share of B&O preferred and one share of C&O common for each 1¾ shares of B&O common.

The petition emphasized that C&O is seeking control of the B&O and its subsidiaries or affiliates, but does not now propose merger or consolidation and does not now intend to operate or acquire trackage rights over B&O properties.

Navy Admits Plane Flew Over Russ Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Navy said Tuesday it has found that one of its patrol planes did fly over a Soviet ship off Cuba recently.

But a spokesman at Atlantic Fleet headquarters said the Navy does not know whether this particular flight was the one to which Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro referred last week.

In a blast at the United States, Castro told a TV audience that a twin-engined plane bearing the identification LF128-390 flew over a Soviet ship off Cuba's coast in what he called an act of espionage.

NYC Planning Offer To B&O Stockholders

Perlman called a special meeting of Central directors for June 24 to discuss a proposed offer to be made to shareholders of the B&O. Terms of the offer were not disclosed.

B&O stockholders also are being approached by the C&O with an offer. Directors of both the C&O and B&O have approved this offer.

Previously, Perlman had said the emerging rail picture in the East should include two systems with the Central in one and the Pennsylvania in the other. He served notice on the C&O and the B&O that the Central should be included in their merger.

"Blue Angel" Killed In Navy Jet Crash

The Navy said Campanella, 29, from Millburn, N.J., crashed about three miles east of Ft. Morgan, Ala., at the mouth of Mobile Bay. The jet was destroyed.

Work Against Time

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Rains in southern Chile Tuesday handicapped engineers working against time to prevent Lake Rinique from flooding the San Pedro River valley and the city of Valdivia.

Engineers estimated the lake would not overflow for at least another week, despite the rains. They hoped that by that time emergency flood control measures would be far enough advanced to prevent damaging overflow.

Beaton And Two Others Face Cuban Firing Squad

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — The anti-Castro rebel leader Manuel Beaton, 30, and two accomplices were ordered to death before a firing squad early Wednesday after being quickly convicted of crimes against the Cuban state.

A military tribunal deliberated only 17 minutes Tuesday in reaching its verdict. Within hours a military appeals court upheld their death sentences and set their execution for after midnight at an unspecified site.

Beaton, a former captain in Prime Minister Fidel Castro's army, and his tiny band of insurgents had roamed the mountains of eastern Cuba for more than six months. Hunger drove them into the hands of pursuers last Friday.

Sentenced to die with Beaton were his younger brother, Cipriano Beaton, and Felipe Martinez. Five other insurgents were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 5 to 30 years. Seven youths were ordered to reformatories until they reach maturity. One was acquitted.

The three condemned to death were accused of killing Maj. Francisco Tamayo, a Castro officer who went unarmed into the Oriente hills to persuade the gang to surrender.

Beaton also was sought for the fatal shooting in Havana of Maj. Cristino Noranjo in a still-unexplained exchange of gunfire at the gates of Havana's Camp Libertad last year.

Court Partially Paves Way For Hoffa Trial

The three-man appeals court held in effect that it could not issue an injunction to halt the ouster proceeding, which is based upon alleged misuse of union funds.

But the court gave Hoffa another opportunity to block the action. It did this by saying the case could come back before the appeals court on a petition for dismissal.

A three-man court-appointed board of monitors had brought the charges against Hoffa. Federal District Judge Joseph R. Jackson originally had set a date in early May for hearing the case. However, the Circuit Court of Appeals held up the action while it considered Teamster arguments that the case should be thrown out.

New York Still Champ

Ike Follows 'Iron Hand In Velvet Glove' Policy

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—President Eisenhower is following the historic American policy line toward Japan of friendship, backed by firmness, in coming here despite opposition and possible personal danger.

A famous U.S. secretary of state, Daniel Webster, first enunciated this "iron hand in a velvet glove" diplomacy in 1851.

He set in motion the 1853 naval expedition which resolutely, but courteously, forced Japan to end two centuries of isolation from the outside world.

Webster recognized that the Japanese admire courage, loyalty and greatness and are alert for evidence of weakness in individuals and nations. Many Americans here believe that for Eisenhower to back down now would be interpreted as a sign of U.S. weakness and would lower American prestige.

The first U.S. approach to Japan for a commercial treaty foundered because the American commodore Washington dispatched had instructions to do nothing which might create hostility or distrust. The Japanese ordered him and his naval ships away.

Commodore Matthew C. Perry who followed him seven years laetr refused to back down.

"He came resolved," the historian James Murdoch wrote, "to demand as a right, not to solicit as a favor, those acts of courtesy which are due from one civilized nation to another—not to tolerate those petty annoyances to which predecessors had been subjected—and to disregard both the acts and the threats of the authorities, if derogatory to the dignity of the American flag."

Perry, by following an unwavering line, persuaded the Japanese to sign a treaty of peace and friendship in 1854.

Algeria Rebels Impressed By De Gaulle's Bid

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle personally guaranteed Tuesday night that Algeria's referendum on its future would be completely free and declared the rebels could have a hand in arranging the vote.

In Tunis, sources close to the rebel leadership said they were "rather favorably" impressed by De Gaulle's statement.

"There is something new in the speech," the informants said. They left the impression that contact with the French might be arranged if necessary guarantees of safety were given a rebel peace mission to Paris.

The rebel reaction was preliminary and unofficial. Formal stand will be made only after the De Gaulle speech is closely studied.

In a new policy statement on the 5½-year-old insurrection, De Gaulle also repeated his appeal to the rebel leaders to come to France and discuss "an honorable end to the fighting."

De Gaulle, in a radio-TV address, said he believed "we were never closer to finding a real solution" to the rebellion. He appeared to be going a long way to meet demands of the rebel leaders. They insist they be in on discussions setting up guarantees and conditions for applying the principle of self-determination that De Gaulle announced last Sept. 16.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two fugitives from the Maryland Reformatory for Males were taken into custody in a Baltimore hotel Monday, police reported.

Negro Alternate Delegate To U.N. Killed In Crash

SHELBYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Charles W. Anderson Jr., an alternate delegate to the United Nations and the first Negro to be elected to the Kentucky Legislature, was killed Tuesday when his car collided with a train at a nearby grade crossing.

He served two terms as president of the National Negro Bar Assn., and in 1945 he was awarded the Howard University Alumni Award for distinction in law and government. He received his law degree from Howard.

Md. Auto Toll Stands At 253

By The Associated Press

Maryland's highway accident death toll for 1960 stood at 253 Tuesday, 23 more than were killed in the same period of 1959.

The latest victims included a Patuxent sailor, a mother of two, a Baltimore seaman and a 7-year-old boy.

Lorel V. Solter, 19, stationed at the Patuxent Naval Air Station, died of internal injuries suffered in a crash Monday night on Maryland 325 near Lexington in St. Marys County. He was in a car which went out of control and flipped over on its top.

David Rushton Smith, 7, was struck by a car Monday and killed at Bethesda. A playmate told police the boy dashed from a yard and into the street. No charges were filed against the driver.

Mrs. Dorothea V. Damm, 21, of Towson, and Arthur M. Dickerson, 45, a Baltimore seaman, died when their autos collided Monday evening on Falls Road in suburban Baltimore. They were the only occupants of the autos. Police were unable to say what caused the accident.

FREDERICK (AP) — Robert Lovelace of Knoxville, Tenn., a specialist in government, Tuesday was appointed executive secretary of the Maryland Assn. of County Commissioners.

Lovelace's appointment to the new post was announced by Delbert S. Null, president of the association and president of the Frederick County commissioners.

The new office will be set up on the University of Maryland campus at College Park. Lovelace will also lecture at the university on government.

Lovelace, 44, leaves a position as consultant for the Municipal Technical Advisory Service at the University of Tennessee. He was graduated from the University of Connecticut and received a masters degree in public administration from the University of Kansas.

House Would Give D. C. Right To Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to give residents of the District of Columbia the right to vote for President and Vice President was approved Tuesday by the House.

The measure goes back to the Senate, which approved it earlier but tied it to two other proposed amendments which the House refused to consider.

Following expected favorable action by the Senate, the amendment will need the approval of three-fourths of the state legislatures to become effective.

Court Upholds Private School Transport Law

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors Tuesday ruled constitutional a state law permitting towns to transport parochial school pupils with public funds.

The law, said the court, "comes up to, but does not reach the 'wall of separation' between church and state."

The statute permits towns, after a referendum, to provide transportation in public school buses for pupils in nonprofit private schools.

But the specific case involved pupils at St. Rose's Roman Catholic School in Newtown. They have been transported at town expense since a month later after the school opened in 1958. Before that, parents' car pools were used.

Four of the five judges held that the law "aids the parents in sending their children to a school of their choice, as is their right. It protects the children from the dangers of modern traffic and reduces the hazard of contracting illness in bad weather."

And, "in the light of our history and policy, it cannot be said to compel support of the church," the court said.

Two of the judges are Catholics, two are Protestants and one is a Jew. Judge Samuel Mellitz disagreed with the ruling, written by Chief Justice Raymond E. Baldwin. Mellitz said the transportation constituted support of a religious school and this was unconstitutional.

The plaintiffs—a group called the Citizens for the Connecticut Constitution — said the decision would be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Five Indicted In Club Holdup

FREDERICK (AP) — The Frederick County grand jury Tuesday indicted five out-of-state men on armed robbery charges in connection on April holdup at a private club near here.

The indictments listed five counts against each defendant. No date was set for trials.

Indicted on armed robbery charges were Benjamin Greif, 51, of New York City; Johnny Douglas Boyd, 43, and William Williams, 35, both of Newark, N.J.; James Charles Toland, 55, of Washington, and Charles Robert Graves, 35, of East Iron, N.J. All but Greif are Negroes.

Toland and Graves are free on $20,000 bond. Williams, Boyd and Greif are in the county jail.

Four men carrying a sawed-off shotgun and pistols entered the Spartan Club, just south of Frederick on Maryland 355, early April 11. They lined up about 20 customers and took cash from their wallets.

The five accused men were arrested about an hour later at a Montgomery County roadblock.

The indictments named five victims alleged to have lost a total of about $8,000 in cash plus jewelry.

Armed Man Provides Tense Moments

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) — A man in debt who threatened to shoot another man and himself will get psychiatric help.

There were tense moments Monday night at the home of Jones A. Douglass near Port Deposit as State Police and sheriff's officers waited outside a bedroom door. Inside, behind a barricade was Douglass, 46-year-old well digger, who was faced with a judgment claim of $250, which was in arrears by several years.

Cecil County Sheriff Edgar U. Startt was about to serve papers on Douglass when the man telephoned the home of Kes Livezey, owner of Livezey Lumber Co., Aberdeen. Douglass threatened to shoot her husband, Mrs. Livezey related to the sheriff, because Livezey held the judgment against him.

Sheriff Startt sent a deputy there and State Police went to the scene also.

Douglass shut himself up behind the door for several hours. He threatened to shoot himself if authorities broke in. Meantime, Livezey, notified of the developments, said he wished to drop the judgment claim.

The sheriff relayed Livezey's message and Douglass came out, surrendering his shotgun with five shells in it.

Mrs. Douglas said she would have her husband seek psychiatric help.

House Would Give D. C. Right To Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to give residents of the District of Columbia the right to vote for President and Vice President was approved Tuesday by the House.

The measure goes back to the Senate, which approved it earlier but tied it to two other proposed amendments which the House refused to consider.

Following expected favorable action by the Senate, the amendment will need the approval of three-fourths of the state legislatures to become effective.

Court Upholds Private School Transport Law

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors Tuesday ruled constitutional a state law permitting towns to transport parochial school pupils with public funds.

The law, said the court, "comes up to, but does not reach the 'wall of separation' between church and state."

The statute permits towns, after a referendum, to provide transportation in public school buses for pupils in nonprofit private schools.

But the specific case involved pupils at St. Rose's Roman Catholic School in Newtown. They have been transported at town expense since a month later after the school opened in 1958. Before that, parents' car pools were used.

Four of the five judges held that the law "aids the parents in sending their children to a school of their choice, as is their right. It protects the children from the dangers of modern traffic and reduces the hazard of contracting illness in bad weather."

And, "in the light of our history and policy, it cannot be said to compel support of the church," the court said.

Two of the judges are Catholics, two are Protestants and one is a Jew. Judge Samuel Mellitz disagreed with the ruling, written by Chief Justice Raymond E. Baldwin. Mellitz said the transportation constituted support of a religious school and this was unconstitutional.

The plaintiffs—a group called the Citizens for the Connecticut Constitution — said the decision would be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Five Indicted In Club Holdup

FREDERICK (AP) — The Frederick County grand jury Tuesday indicted five out-of-state men on armed robbery charges in connection on April holdup at a private club near here.

The indictments listed five counts against each defendant. No date was set for trials.

Indicted on armed robbery charges were Benjamin Greif, 51, of New York City; Johnny Douglas Boyd, 43, and William Williams, 35, both of Newark, N.J.; James Charles Toland, 55, of Washington, and Charles Robert Graves, 35, of East Iron, N.J. All but Greif are Negroes.

Toland and Graves are free on $20,000 bond. Williams, Boyd and Greif are in the county jail.

Four men carrying a sawed-off shotgun and pistols entered the Spartan Club, just south of Frederick on Maryland 355, early April 11. They lined up about 20 customers and took cash from their wallets.

The five accused men were arrested about an hour later at a Montgomery County roadblock.

The indictments named five victims alleged to have lost a total of about $8,000 in cash plus jewelry.

Armed Man Provides Tense Moments

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) — A man in debt who threatened to shoot another man and himself will get psychiatric help.

There were tense moments Monday night at the home of Jones A. Douglass near Port Deposit as State Police and sheriff's officers waited outside a bedroom door. Inside, behind a barricade was Douglass, 46-year-old well digger, who was faced with a judgment claim of $250, which was in arrears by several years.

Cecil County Sheriff Edgar U. Startt was about to serve papers on Douglass when the man telephoned the home of Kes Livezey, owner of Livezey Lumber Co., Aberdeen. Douglass threatened to shoot her husband, Mrs. Livezey related to the sheriff, because Livezey held the judgment against him.

Sheriff Startt sent a deputy there and State Police went to the scene also.

Douglass shut himself up behind the door for several hours. He threatened to shoot himself if authorities broke in. Meantime, Livezey, notified of the developments, said he wished to drop the judgment claim.

The sheriff relayed Livezey's message and Douglass came out, surrendering his shotgun with five shells in it.

Mrs. Douglas said she would have her husband seek psychiatric help.

Man Held In B&O Pay Check Theft

A Grafton, W. Va. man is being held in Parkersburg in connection with a theft of six payroll checks from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at nearby Keyser.

Officials of the railroad identified the man as A. E. Poling, RD 1, Grafton, a furloughed brakeman. The checks total $1,198.40, and were stolen June 5.

Poling was arrested as he attempted to cash one of the checks in a Parkersburg department store this past Saturday. Authorities said he had cashed three or four of the checks, however all the checks have been recovered by B&O police.

The case developed on Sunday, June 5, when Poling was at the B&O Station in Keyser. Authorities said that when the night clerk at the station turned his back, Poling allegedly stole the checks.

Poling had earlier been furloughed on the Monongah Division, which runs from Grafton to Parkersburg, and was working in Keyser until his recent furlough.

As soon as the checks were discovered missing, police units throughout the area were notified of the serial numbers.

Police apprehended the man after a clerk in the store observed that the check had apparently been forged.

Railroad authorities said the man will be held in Parkersburg for criminal charges, and then may be returned to Keyser to face additional charges.

'Y' Planning Extensive Day Camp Program

The most ambitious day camp program ever to be undertaken by the Cumberland Central YMCA will involve the leadership and direction of more than a dozen people this summer, according to B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local youth center and Director of the day camp program.

One of the major phases of the program, as in the past three years, will be swimming. Instruction will be under the direction of Miss Judy McKenty, and Michael Wanda. If an extra large number of campers enroll, David Hite will be added to the staff to assist in the pool. Daily instruction will be given for beginners at 9:30 a. m. and for advanced swimmers at 10:30 a. m. A fun swim will be held for all day campers at 2:30 p. m. every day.

Miss Janet Shanholtz, recent graduate of Allegany High School and president of the Allegany Tri-Hi-Y Club, will be in charge of devotions and crafts. She will be assisted by Miss Susan Wilson of Mt. Savage, who was a junior leader last summer.

Harold Schriver, senior at Frostburg State Teachers College and president of the FSTC Student Council during the past year, will be in charge of the athletic program and organized games. James Twigg, Y physical instructor, will be in charge of morning gym programs before the day campers leave the Y for the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club picnic grounds, where the out-of-door activities take place.

Karl VanNewkirk, sophomore at Washington and Jefferson College and a member of the day camp staff last summer, will be in charge of the overnight camping program. There will be an overnight camp-out once each two weeks.

Barry Dean will be in charge of a special theatrical group which will prepare skits and plays for parents nights, once each fortnight.

Smith, besides directing the camp will be in charge of the out-of-town trips, which will be taken every two weeks. Trips to New Germany Park in Garrett County, Hershey, Pennsylvania and Washington have been arranged. A fourth "mystery trip" will be taken without any of the day campers knowing where they are to be taken. This will take place in the fourth period of camp.

Assisting at the Y, supervising the Youth Lobby will be Ronnie Middleton, Jay Ervin and James Miller. The office staff, including Mrs. Betty Twigg, Mrs. Rubye Davis and Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, will attend to promotional materials and the day camp records.

The day camp program will begin on next Monday and continue for eight weeks, or four two-week periods, concluding on August 12. Boys and girls from age 7 through 13 are eligible to register. Transportation to outlying areas is provided if enough persons live in those areas to warrant the effort, Smith said.

The very small fee required includes an insurance policy, milk provided at noon, leadership, transportation to and from the picnic grounds and the Y, and transportation to areas like Frostburg where it can be arranged.

Additional information may be had by calling the Y at any time. It is expected that the average registration per period will exceed sixty persons.

A dinner for leaders will be held this week, Smith has stated.

Commercial Courses Sought At Flintstone

Mrs. Donald McCusker, Little Orleans, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday seeking information on how to obtain a commercial course for students at Flintstone High School.

She said she had contacted school officials and was under the impression the county commissioners made the decision in such matters. Commissioner John J. Rowan told her that "we have no control over the school board, all we do is furnish the money."

Rowan suggested that Mrs. McCusker seek a meeting with the Board of Education and place the request before the board. The woman said she had also been given to believe that students who wish to take commercial courses may be transported to high schools with such courses.

When Mrs. McCusker said school officials intimated the county commissioners would not provide for the commercial course, Rowan replied: "We're pretty good scapegoats."

ASSIGNED — Rev. Paul O'Brien, above, has been assigned to the Union Grove Charge by the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church. The charge is comprised of Mt. Pleasant, Elliott Memorial and Pleasant Grove congregations east of Cumberland. Rev. Mr. O'Brien will be at home at the parsonage, next to Pleasant Grove Church, after tomorrow. He is married and has two sons, Robert and Sammy.

Man Sentenced On Mail Charge

A Cumberland man was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday morning after being found guilty of larceny of United States Mail.

Magistrate Paul Barnett sentenced the man, Harry Reger, following a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court. Reger has the right to appeal the decision to Circuit Court.

Stephen H. Wandless of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Police Department Monday obtained a warrant charging Reger with stealing a box of after shave lotion from a mail sack at the B&O Station last Wednesday evening.

Brophytown Bridge Work Is Discussed

Three men from the Westernport area appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to request repairs to the bridge across Georges Creek at Brophytown.

They are Russell Raines, H. L. Sutherland and Elmer Shetfler.

They said the structure is weak and poses a dangerous situation to trucks and fire equipment if the occasion required answering a fire alarm.

Commissioner John J. Rowan told the men he had inspected the bridge about a month ago with Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, and plans are to install steel piers in concrete as soon as the water in the steam abates.

Something should have been done 10 years ago to place the bridge in good condition, Rowan said.

The principal head covering of Roman and Greek ladies was a veil, supplemented in cold or wet weather by a hood of linen or wool.

The training college of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Regina, Sask., has perhaps the only church in the world used exclusively for policemen.

Bedford Road Auxiliary Plans Festival, To Parade

Announcement that, Mrs. Nancy Growden, a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company, was elected president of the Allegany-Garrett County organization, was made at the meeting of the auxiliary, Monday evening. Mrs. Dorothy Wilson conducted the meeting and reported on the county session at Deer Park. She said that the county picnic would be held at noon, July 20, at New Germany. The next county meeting is to be at Clarysville in September.

The auxiliary named Mrs. Catherine Purnell delegate to the state meeting, June 22, 23 and 24.

It was decided to discontinue the monthly dinners, until September. However, a festival will be held August 27 at the fire hall.

Members decided to participate in the parade at Bowling Green and at Fort Ashby.

Following the recitation of the Lord's Prayer and flag salute, routine reports were given by Mrs. Inez Switzer and Mrs. Anna Lee Roberts. Reports also were given on the dinners and strawberry festival.

Reports on the fund drive, now being held, were given when the firemen met with the auxiliary concluding the evening. A social hour followed with Mrs. Estella Judy, Mrs. Barbara Garland, Mrs. Helen Wilson, Mrs. Grace Brady and Mrs. Mary Louise Zembower hostesses. Seventeen members attended.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Mrs. Elaine Long entertained in compliment to Miss Beverly Long, fiancee of Phillip Beall Wendt, with a linen shower at the home, West Second Street. The marriage of Miss Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Long, RFD 4, to Mr. Wendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Wendt, 817 Gephart Drive, will be performed June 18 in Davis Memorial Methodist Church, by Rev. Gordon Hinkle.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in unmbrella, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, which concealed the gifts. It was repeated in the pink carnations and white pompons centering the table and the shower cake.

County Will Continue Investment Procedure

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will continue during the fiscal year that starts July 1 the past year's procedure of investing "idle" county money in short-term government investments.

A motion was passed identical to the one approved last year giving John T. Mason, county commissioner, authority to proceed with the investment program.

During the current year, the county received $36,000 in interest from county receipts that were invested in the short-term notes.

However, Board President John J. Rowan said this year he felt that the three major Cumberland banks should be given an opportunity to offer a program of investing these funds.

Rowan said he would like to see the same procedure followed by Mason as the past year's program was well-handled.

He pointed out Mason and County Attorney Leslie J. Clark had investigated various methods of putting the idle county money to work and had selected the program offered by the Second National Bank.

Rowan said it did not make any difference to him which bank's program was used.

County Commissioner William A. Wilson, who made the motion that Mason be authorized to proceed, pointed out that this past year was an exceptional one in the line of short-term investments, and warned that this coming fiscal year will not be as good due to the money market.

Switzerland is among the countries that have acquired merchant fleets since World War II. Others are Liberia, Ireland, Costa Rica and Ecuador.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Beauty On The Go!

If you're footloose, single, and planning a vacation — or a few weekends or two or three away from home — don't fail to pack grooming aids. There is plenty of competition at these resort spots, and you don't want to have the horrible experience of leaving at home just the "ammunition" you need to make you most glamorous and irresistible.

This is the season! Vacation havens are the ideal places to meet your quota of bachelors and you want to be your most charming self. This list of miscellaneous items to be taken should be checked off every time you pack your suitcase for a trip away from home: clothes-brush; comb; face cream (could double as hand and eye cream); sun lotion; deodorant; depilatory; toothbrush, dentrifice; hair brush; cotton; bobby pins and hair net for setting hair at night; facial tissue.

Nail polish and remover; mirror (small magnifying, if possible); emery board; hair dressing; tweezers; soap (in soap dish unless you're going to someone's home — trains and hotels have skimpy cakes as a rule); makeup (foundation base, powder, rouge, lipstick, eye cosmetics); purse-size flacon of perfume, shampoo, sewing kit, sun glasses.

Pack toilet articles in small, spillproof, plastic containers and put all in one bag. This makes the toothpaste and other items handy to get at along the way and prevents damage to clothes.

TOMORROW: Complexion Crimes.

SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY: Summer-fresh beauty . . . the year around! It's yours for the asking—just read SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY. Send for your copy today (enclosing 10c and a stamped, return envelope) to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Tax Collector Not To Get Overtime Pay

The county tax collector, ordered paid overtime for extra hours put in getting the tax bills out on time, will have to go without it, the county attorney told the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

John T. Mason, county commissioner, near the close of the two-hour meeting yesterday in the Court House, said the bill had been approved by the board, but he found, on the advice of County Attorney Leslie J. Clark that the payment was illegal.

Several meetings ago, overtime for tax department personnel who worked extra hours at night and on Saturday and Sunday was authorized following considerable discussion.

Overtime in the amount of $805.57 was drafted for County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

Clark read from the law pertaining to the tax collector's salary which said the collector is to be paid a salary not to exceed $625 per month.

His salary is $625 a month and therefore the overtime is illegal, Clark stated.

John J. Rowan, board president, admitted that he signed the payment as he took for granted the collector would be included in the overtime with those in the department who worked the long hours.

That should have been brought out at the time, Rowan said, not two or three meetings later.

Mason said that he did not see the order approving the payment.

Mason added that there is a motion on the books that excludes department heads from overtime and compensatory time off.

Rowan countered that the overtime issue was discussed solely on the tax department, and that he felt as the collector put in all those additional hours he should be eligible.

Clark stated that the decision was one to protect the county commissioners.

County Will Continue Investment Procedure

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will continue during the fiscal year that starts July 1 the past year's procedure of investing "idle" county money in short-term government investments.

A motion was passed identical to the one approved last year giving John T. Mason, county commissioner, authority to proceed with the investment program.

During the current year, the county received $36,000 in interest from county receipts that were invested in the short-term notes.

However, Board President John J. Rowan said this year he felt that the three major Cumberland banks should be given an opportunity to offer a program of investing these funds.

Rowan said he would like to see the same procedure followed by Mason as the past year's program was well-handled.

He pointed out Mason and County Attorney Leslie J. Clark had investigated various methods of putting the idle county money to work and had selected the program offered by the Second National Bank.

Rowan said it did not make any difference to him which bank's program was used.

County Commissioner William A. Wilson, who made the motion that Mason be authorized to proceed, pointed out that this past year was an exceptional one in the line of short-term investments, and warned that this coming fiscal year will not be as good due to the money market.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Beauty On The Go!

If you're footloose, single, and planning a vacation — or a few weekends or two or three away from home — don't fail to pack grooming aids. There is plenty of competition at these resort spots, and you don't want to have the horrible experience of leaving at home just the "ammunition" you need to make you most glamorous and irresistible.

This is the season! Vacation havens are the ideal places to meet your quota of bachelors and you want to be your most charming self. This list of miscellaneous items to be taken should be checked off every time you pack your suitcase for a trip away from home: clothes-brush; comb; face cream (could double as hand and eye cream); sun lotion; deodorant; depilatory; toothbrush, dentrifice; hair brush; cotton; bobby pins and hair net for setting hair at night; facial tissue.

Nail polish and remover; mirror (small magnifying, if possible); emery board; hair dressing; tweezers; soap (in soap dish unless you're going to someone's home — trains and hotels have skimpy cakes as a rule); make-up (foundation base, powder, rouge, lipstick, eye cosmetics); purse-size flacon of perfume, shampoo, sewing kit, sun glasses.

Pack toilet articles in small, spillproof, plastic containers and put all in one bag. This makes the toothpaste and other items handy to get at along the way and prevents damage to clothes.

TOMORROW: Complexion Crimes.

SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY: Summer-fresh beauty . . . the year around! It's yours for the asking—just read SUMMERIZING YOUR BEAUTY. Send for your copy today (enclosing 10c and a stamped, return envelope) to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this newspaper.

Tax Collector Not To Get Overtime Pay

The county tax collector, ordered paid overtime for extra hours put in getting the tax bills out on time, will have to go without it, the county attorney told the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

John T. Mason, county commissioner, near the close of the two-hour meeting yesterday in the Court House, said the bill had been approved by the board, but he found, on the advice of County Attorney Leslie J. Clark that the payment was illegal.

Several meetings ago, overtime for tax department personnel who worked extra hours at night and on Saturday and Sunday was authorized following considerable discussion.

Overtime in the amount of $805.57 was drafted for County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff.

Clark read from the law pertaining to the tax collector's salary which said the collector is to be paid a salary not to exceed $625 per month.

His salary is $625 a month and therefore the overtime is illegal, Clark stated.

John J. Rowan, board president, admitted that he signed the payment as he took for granted the collector would be included in the overtime with those in the department who worked the long hours.

That should have been brought out at the time, Rowan said, not two or three meetings later.

Mason said that he did not see the order approving the payment.

Mason added that there is a motion on the books that excludes department heads from overtime and compensatory time off.

Rowan countered that the overtime issue was discussed solely on the tax department, and that he felt as the collector put in all those additional hours he should be eligible.

Clark stated that the decision was one to protect the county commissioners.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Is there an art to getting out of a car gracefully? When I have school books to carry and a fellow drops me off in his car I seem to have a terrible time exiting like a lady. My skirt goes up and the tops of my stockings (including the garters) show. I know I must look like a clumsy ox.

Several of my girl friends have the same problem and none of us have ever seen a solution printed anywhere. Can you help us? Thank you.—OOPS E. DAISY

DEAR DAISY: Yes, there is an art of getting out of car gracefully.

First, make sure the car has come to a dead stop before you try to get out. Many girls lose their balance because the car is still rolling when they open the door.

Next, gather your books and purse, cradling everything in one arm, and with your free hand, open the door. Be sure to TURN to make your exit, so you'll be heading out the door, not scootching out sideways. This will avoid the embarrassing exhibit of garters and petticoats. You're welcome.

DEAR ANN: I have a wonderful husband and maybe I have a lot of nerve to complain, but I think he's wrong about something. He says I'M wrong. What do you say?

I come from a family of five children. My father is not wealthy but he is better than comfortable. He has given each of his married children a nice sum of money to help them along.

My husband does not believe in accepting money from parents. I hate to do anything against my husband's wishes, but I feel that I'm entitled to the same amount as the others. Why should I pass up my share? Am I wrong—DAILY READER

DEAR DAILY: If the money is a wedding gift, I see no reason to turn it down. If it is NOT a wedding gift and your folks are in the habit of giving their married children money "to help them along" periodically, respect your husband's wishes and say "No thanks."

DEAR ANN: I'm 17, a high school senior, and make pretty good money babysitting. The other night I sat for a new couple in the neighborhood. They are rather young parents (I'd guess they're in the middle 20's).

The other night when they got home it was almost 2:30 a.m. I was half asleep on the couch. Mr. X offered to walk me home. I said it wasn't necessary because I live less than a block away. He insisted, saying he'd feel better if he saw me to my door.

On the way home he kissed me. I was so shocked, and it happened so fast there was nothing I could do to stop him.

I don't want to sit for them again but I don't know how to get out of it. Should I come right out and tell Mrs. X the reason? Also, if my mother asks why I don't want to go over there, what shall I tell her? Do you think I should pass the word to my girl friends who may be called to sit for them? Please advise me.—THROUGH THERE

DEAR THROUGH: Tell your mother why you can't sit for this family again. If she wishes to take it up with Mrs. X it's up to her. YOU, however, should not discuss the incident with the man's wife.

Don't blab the details around to your girl friends, please. It could be very hurtful to the young wife, and from the sound of your letter she's going to have trouble enough with her roaming Romeo.

Fish Probe Urged

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A state official Tuesday proposed a broad-scale investigation into what causes the mass death of fish which wash ashore on Chesapeake Bay beaches each summer.

Paul W. McKee, director of the Water Pollution Control Commission, said he has asked state and federal fishery experts to meet with his agency next Wednesday to discuss the problem.

City's General Net Debt Totals $92 Per Person

The City of Cumberland will complete the current fiscal year on June 30 with its bonded indebtedness under good control.

The net general debt, which must be repaid from taxes, will total $3,066,000.

This represents a per capital debt of $92.18, based on Cumberland's estimated population of 33,260.

The per capital national debt, based on a debt totaling $295 billions shared by the country's estimated population of 175 millions, is about $1,685.

The city's net general debt will be $228,000 below the limit of six per cent of the $54,900,000 of real estate assessments.

Provides Market

This limit will enable the savings banks of several states to invest in the city's obligations, according to City Attorney Arthur B. Gibson.

The current net general debt is $4,864,000 below the legal limit of $7,930,000 of assessments on real and personal property within the city limits.

On July 1, 1959, the gross general debt totaled $3,155,000. From this must be subtracted $225,000 deposited in the sinking fund. This brought the net general debt down to $2,930,000.

During the year, the City retired $164,000 of serial bonds from tax sources but sold a $300,000 bond issue to meet its Thruway monetary obligations.

One Issue Remains

This meant a $136,000 increase in the net general debt which on June 30 will total $3,166,000, less $100,000 remaining in the sinking fund after the retirement, during the year, of a $125,000 Memorial Hospital bond issue of 1929.

The $100,000 bond issue sold in 1936 for an addition to Sacred Heart Hospital is the lone issue to be paid from the sinking bund.

The deduction of this sinking fund money drops the net general debt subject to property taxation to $3,066,000.

The Sewage Disposal bond account stood at $1,900,000 on July 1, 1959. During the year, the city retired $50,000 of the debt. This will leave a balance of $1,850,000 owed on June 30.

The operation of the sewage treatment plant, maintenance and construction of sanitary sewers and payments on the $2,000,000 bond issue sold to finance the plant are met through sewage service charges paid by all users, and do not affect property taxes.

Technically, all of the bonds which have been sold bear the full faith and credit of the city of Cumberland.

This means that if sewage and water fees ever prove insufficient to meet the costs of servicing water and sewage bonds, the Mayor and Council would have to levy on property to meet the deficit until fees could be boosted.

Net $2,057,939

During the year, the city retired $60,000 of water bonds and deposited $45,097.57 in the sinking fund which already contained $1,852,840.30 which was earmarked for the retirement of term water bonds.

Subtracting this $1,897,939.87 from the outstanding water bonds brings the net water debt to $2,057,062.13, and this is only slightly more than the $1,850,000 of bonds issued since World War II for improvements at the Lake Gordon filtration plant, the second water transmission line from Lake Gordon to the city, and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass water line.

The net water debt will be slightly less than the above figure, as the income from the sinking fund investments will not be known until the fiscal year closes.

temperature dropped about 18 degrees at the Times-News office.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer here, said little or no damage was caused in Constitution Park, where a few small limbs were broken off the trees and the wind was from 40 to 45 miles an hour, mostly in gusts.

He said about .66 inch of rain fell during the storm. During the whole day a total of .72 inch of rain fell. The temperature climbed to 83 degrees here yesterday and at 6 p. m. the temperature was 67 degrees.

Confined To Area

The storm did not hit the Tri-Towns or Keyser area, although a light shower fell in Keyser. Westernport had no rain according to one resident who said it got "awful dark" about 4:30 p. m. when the storm broke here.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said a hard rain fell there during an electrical storm about 4:30 p. m., although no extensive damage was reported.

Pensnylvania State Police at Bedford said "quite a bit of rain" fell in that area, although no unusual damage was reported.

Water Tap Rates Are Established

FROSTBURG—The Mayor and Council have established the price of a three-quarter-inch water tap at $87.50, and $100 for a one inch tap.

It was brought to the attention of Mayor Joseph James that many lots in the city are overgrown with weeds and tall grass. Property owners will be given 10 days to clean up their lots.

Supreme Court Again Rules Against Isners

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — Litigation in the controversial Rosemary custody case apparently is at an end as far as Forrest and Eith Isner are concerned.

The State Supreme Court said Tuesday Tucker County Circuit Judge Ernest A. See could not reopen the case which has been in the courts for almost three years.

Judge Leslie Given, in a unanimous opinion, wrote in effect that a technicality brought forth by the Isners had been decided in a previous ruling by the high court.

The Parsons couple sought to re-open the proceeding in an effort to regain custody of their former foster child, Rosemary Johnston, now 4 years of age.

Rosemary went to the Isner home under a Department of Public Assistance foster home agreement when she was a week old. She remained there until last February when the DPA removed her.

The Isners had made efforts to adopt the child but were refused by the state agency. One of several reasons was that the couple was too old. Both are in their late 40's.

When the DPA then sought to regain custody of Rosemary, the Isners went to court. Judge See gave them custody but later was reversed by the Supreme Court which held that the foster home agreement was valid.

One of the provisions of the agreement, signed by all foster parents taking children from the DPA, is that these persons may not adopt the children.

See was ordered by the Supreme Court to prepare an order returning the child to the DPA. This order was entered late last year.

The Isners appealed to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, but their appeal was refused and Rosemary was taken from their home by DPA officials. She since has been placed in another home.

Judge Given's opinion said the high court had previously decided issues involved in the new proceedings.

"A Judgement rendered in proceedings between the same parties involving the same cause of action and having the same object precludes further litigation as to the facts involved in the proceedings. . ."

Fish Probe Urged

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A state official Tuesday proposed a broad-scale investigation into what causes the mass death of fish which wash ashore on Chesapeake Bay beaches each summer.

Paul W. McKee, director of the Water Pollution Control Commission, said he has asked state and federal fishery experts to meet with his agency next Wednesday to discuss the problem.

City's General Net Debt Totals $92 Per Person

The City of Cumberland will complete the current fiscal year on June 30 with its bonded indebtedness under good control.

The net general debt, which must be repaid from taxes, will total $3,066,000.

This represents a per capital debt of $92.18, based on Cumberland's estimated population of 33,260.

The per capital national debt, based on a debt totaling $295 billions shared by the country's estimated population of 175 millions, is about $1,685.

The city's net general debt will be $228,000 below the limit of six per cent of the $54,900,000 of real estate assessments.

Provides Market

This limit will enable the savings banks of several states to invest in the city's obligations, according to City Attorney Arthur B. Gibson.

The current net general debt is $4,864,000 below the legal limit of $7,930,000 of assessments on real and personal property within the city limits.

On July 1, 1959, the gross general debt totaled $3,155,000. From this must be subtracted $225,000 deposited in the sinking fund. This brought the net general debt down to $2,930,000.

During the year, the City retired $164,000 of serial bonds from tax sources but sold a $300,000 bond issue to meet its Thruway monetary obligations.

One Issue Remains

This meant a $136,000 increase in the net general debt which on June 30 will total $3,166,000, less $100,000 remaining in the sinking fund after the retirement, during the year, of a $125,000 Memorial Hospital bond issue of 1929.

The $100,000 bond issue sold in 1936 for an addition to Sacred Heart Hospital is the lone issue to be paid from the sinking bund.

The deduction of this sinking fund money drops the net general debt subject to property taxation to $3,066,000.

The Sewage Disposal bond account stood at $1,900,000 on July 1, 1959. During the year, the city retired $50,000 of the debt. This will leave a balance of $1,850,000 owed on June 30.

The operation of the sewage treatment plant, maintenance and construction of sanitary sewers and payments on the $2,000,000 bond issue sold to finance the plant are met through sewage service charges paid by all users, and do not affect property taxes.

Technically, all of the bonds which have been sold bear the full faith and credit of the city of Cumberland.

This means that if sewage and water fees ever prove insufficient to meet the costs of servicing water and sewage bonds, the Mayor and Council would have to levy on property to meet the deficit until fees could be boosted.

Net $2,057,939

During the year, the city retired $60,000 of water bonds and deposited $45,097.57 in the sinking fund which already contained $1,852,840.30 which was earmarked for the retirement of term water bonds.

Nikita's Angry Again: Ho-Hum

Nikita Khrushchev, by his constant yammering, has become an international bore, and has worn out his power to scare. This seems to be the consensus in Washington and there may be more substance to such observations than meets the eye.

Russian Communist leaders are said to be consummate psychologists who have made a deep study of propaganda and therefore know just where and when to make a world-shaking remark and what language to use. But Khrushchev gives plain evidence of overdoing whatever he has in mind.

The secret of his bungling probably is that in his own bailiwick he gets nothing but praise because it isn't safe to utter anything else. A man in such a position is sure to lose his perspective and misinterpret the constant wave of applause that meets his outbursts.

Khrushchev's game seems to be to go through all the motions of war short of actually pressing the button, but a dulled weapon is the penalty of scaring people too often.

The bungling psychology of this situation is analogous to that of the old school-book story about the "boy who cried wolf." He overdid it, the result being that people quit paying attention to him.

If the Soviet boss keeps on screaming at the United States the time will soon come when the people of the Western countries will yawn and turn a deaf ear.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Freedom Academy

What do we mean by freedom? When we speak of the free nations, to contrast them with the Soviet bloc, what do we wish to convey? Can we win to our side the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America by favoring capitalism in opposition to some kind of socialism?

In a word, in the Cold War, what are our weapons? The most effective weapons are words, ideas translated into words, powerfully emotional slogans that drive men and women to frenzy. These are the weapons that Soviet Russia has used to build Communist parties in every country on Earth. This is the widespread, permanent Fifth Column which every nation faces. It is this force which captured Cuba; it is this force which is now sending young people into snake-dances in Japan.

What power have we been able to let loose to counteract this influence? Thus far, there has been very little. The USIA does a certain amount of work but it is hampered as a government agency. The Voice of America has done something but it has not fired the spirit of youth anywhere. MRA—the Moral Re-Armament movement—has, in a measure, been effective wherever it has been able to work.

Senator Karl Mundt has been studying this problem for many years and he has come up with the proposal for a "Freedom Academy" charged with undertaking a development and training program aimed at developing an integrated cold war operational science and training government personnel, private citizens and foreign students in this science."

One of our major problems in the Cold War is that Communism is to Americans an elusive idea. Advocated in the Marxian concept since 1848, well documented by brilliant writers, discussed pro and con in thousands of universities, meeting rooms and beer halls, in the United States this concept and movement made very little impression until the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 forced us to acknowledge its existence. Even then, we ignored the essential nature of Marxian sociology and devoted ourselves to a criticism of its economics. Anti-Communism often took on absurd forms, such as anti-Semitism or anti-Catholicism or anti-Negro, depending upon the nature of the anti-group. Those who do not understand Marxism cannot know how to attack Communism.

To this extent, the Freedom Academy can have meaning. The Communists have such schools in Moscow, Leningrad, Tashkent, Prague and elsewhere. The Prague school, for instance, specializes in training Latin Americans and Africans, while the Tashkent school trains Communists from Islamic countries. What are these men and women trained for? They are trained for subversion and propaganda. But the subjects they study are politics, ideological concepts, psychological warfare, sociology, economic and military methods, etc. When a trained Communist goes into a country, he knows the language, history, sociology, religions of the people. He can rapidly relate himself to the people.

They are motivated human beings. Their motivation is not only political but patriotic. Senator Mundt has served on many committees of both Houses of Congress which held prolonged hearings into Communist activities in this country. He has undoubtedly witnessed Americans rise to testify against Communist activity who did not know what they were talking about. He has undoubtedly heard American fellow travellers make statements about Communism which were unrelated to anything. He has said of the Freedom Academy:

"The ultimate purpose of the Freedom Academy is to train a cadre of dedicated Anti-Communists to lead and direct the forces of freedom on the political and psychological battlefronts of the world. To effectively offset and defeat Communist organizational weapons, we need trained and dedicated people who understand Communist strategy and who appreciate the tactics and the realities of a total global power struggle. In this way we would have the means and objectives of providing the Free World with skilled operatives to promote freedom's side of this Cold War. We are late in developing proper and effective methods of repelling the Communist conspiracy. But there is still time if we devote our great American talents, vision, and resources to this immediate problem."

The idea is sound if it is possible to find a staff who will face the truth honestly and deal with problems with an accent on what they really are and not what anyone wants them to be. Perhaps this is the time to explore its possibilities.

'I'm Going Up And Cut Us Loose'

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK — Tuvia Friedmann, the man who spent 16 years tracking down the No. 2 killer of 6,000,000 Jews, is a quiet-spoken, intense Polish Jew who reminds you of a young edition of Premier Ben-Gurion. He is bald, with a bushy fringe of hair around the edges—like Ben-Gurion—and his determined eyes flash as do the Prime Minister's who has led the beleaguered little country of Israel through so many crises.

Tuvia Friedmann, with whom I spent several hours at a private meeting-place outside New York, showed me irrefutable evidence that West German authorities knew for at least two years where Adolf Eichmann was hiding in Argentina; that it knew his assumed name was Ricardo Clementung and that his address was Chacabuco 4261 Olivos, District Vincente Lopez, Buenos Aires Province.

The fact that the West German government had not moved to return to Germany the man who masterminded the murder of 6,000,000 Jews sheds important light on the reason why a little band of private Israelis, all former inmates of Nazi concentration camps, finally planned and accomplished his capture.

Fair Trial For Eichmann

Friedmann, who finally tracked Eichmann down in Argentina, also gave me some interesting facts regarding the trial planned for him in Israel.

"The day before I left Tel Aviv," he said, "I talked to the man who was assembling the evidence for the trial. From what he told me I am sure that Eichmann will receive the fairest trial in the world. He will not be tried merely on reports that he murdered Jews. The fact that people said he masterminded the murders will not be sufficient.

"Rather he will be tried on concrete evidence and the testimony of witnesses who saw him commit murder. My government is now planning to bring witnesses from all over the world. I have suggested that the 18 nations whose nationals were murdered in Eichmann's concentration camps be invited to send observers to the trial — not to give evidence, but to be satisfied that justice is done.

"It is only natural that many Jews are impatient," said the man who was patient for 16 years in tracking down Eichmann. "Some would like to see him hung immediately. But justice is not going to be hurried. It will take perhaps half a year to prepare for trial."

I asked Friedmann about the efforts of the Israeli Minister of Justice, Dr. Pinhas Rosen, to restrict comment in the Israeli press.

"Under Israeli law," explained Friedmann, "the press is not permitted to comment on a trial in any way that would prejudice the right of a fair trial. Some of the press felt that this was not just an ordinary criminal and they had the right to demand prompt and vigorous punishment for Eichmann.

"So the Minister of Justice went before the Knesset, our parliament," explained Friedmann, "and asked that the laws of fair trial in Israel be applied also to the Eichmann case and that there be no press editorialization regarding his punishment. The Knesset backed him up — further evidence that Eichmann will be tried fairly."

Enormity Of The Crime

At the age of 16 Friedman, now 41, was a prisoner in a Nazi ammunition factory. Toward the end of the war, at the age of 20, he dug a tunnel and escaped, joining the Polish underground and has spent his life tracking down those who murdered his father, his mother, and 6,000,000 Jews.

In the years that have passed, people's memories have dimmed regarding the enormity of the tragedy perpetrated against the Jewish people — and the part Eichmann played in it. Friedmann recalled some of the background.

"There were four stages of anti-Semitism in Germany," he said. "They got worse as the stages progressed. The first stage was between 1933 and 1938 at which time Hitler didn't murder the Jews. He merely took their property away.

"The second stage was between 1938-40 when Jews were ordered to leave their homes, with their possessions remaining behind. This was an effort to make it so difficult for Jews that they would get out of Germany. But the Jews had lived in their towns and villages for hundreds of years and were not discouraged easily.

"Then came the third stage between 1940-42," said Friedmann. "by this time the war was on, and Hitler's SS men set up ghettos to isolate the Jews from the Christian community.

"They were confined behind barbed-wire entanglements in the worst slum sections of the cities, about 10 people in a room, sometimes a vast population in a few city blocks. Disease broke out. Hunger was unbelievable. People began to die by the hundreds. There was a constant stream of hearses leaving these ghettos.

"However, this treatment of the Jews was both expensive and dangerous. Disease could spread and it was expensive to bury the dead.

"It was at this point," said Friedmann, "that Eichmann's fiendish genius for killing people at the lowest cost possible entered the picture. Mass murder was not easy, but Eichmann got to work devising the cheapest and most efficient system of mass murder ever know to man."

More of Tuvia Friedmann's story will follow in an early column.

"Independents" Are Not Usually Best-Informed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A myth has been built up that the "independents" constitute the best-informed group in the entire electorate.

This writer has never accepted such a view and has contended just the opposite — namely, that the independents are swayed much more by superficial than critical analysis of the issues.

A book, entitled "The American Voter," has just been published which throws considerable light on the subject. Since it comes from academic sources, it might attract the attention of the many academicians who have from time to time been unwittingly exaggerating the importance of the "independent" vote.

The book was written by Professors Angus Campbell, Philip Converse, Warren Miller and Donald Stokes — members of the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan. All of them are in the field of political science and have participated in many surveys and researches on voter attitudes.

Far from confirming the widespread impression that "independents" are thoughtful, well-informed persons who have a profound knowledge of political issues, the Michigan experts contend that the voter who is consistently identified with one or the other of the political parties is likely to know more about the issues than is the independent. Some extracts from the book read as follows:

"The association is easily missed in popular accounts of electoral behavior. The ideal of the independent citizen, attentive to politics concerned with the course of government, who weighs the rival appeals of a campaign and reaches a judgment that is unswayed by partisan prejudice, has had such a vigorous history in the tradition of political reform — and has such a hold on civic education today — that one could easily suppose that the habitual partisan has the more limited interest and concern with politics.

"But if the usual image of the independent voter is intended as more than a normative ideal, it fits poorly the characteristics of the independents in our samples.

"Far from being more attentive, interested, and informed, independents tend as a group to be somewhat less involved in politics. They have somewhat poorer knowledge of the issues, their image of the candidates is fainter, their interest in the campaign is less, their concern over the outcome is relatively slight, and their choice between competing candidates, although it is indeed made later in the campaign, seems much less to spring from discoverable evaluations of the elements of national politics."

Detailed studies and polls show that of those citizens who are strongly identified with one or the other of the parties, 82 per cent "care very much" whereas 18 per cent "do not care very much or don't care at all." This contrasts with the record of the so-called "independents" who are divided almost 50-50 between those who "care very much" and those who "do not care very much or don't care at all."

The authors say: "The individual who has a strong and continuing involvement in politics is more likely to develop a commitment to one or the other of the major parties. And the individual who has such a commitment is likely to have his interest and concern with politics sustained at a higher level."

This is but another way of saying that the so-called "independents" are people who have not learned much from lofty speeches or pronouncements and are swayed in each campaign by emotional or economic considerations. This is the very opposite of the position often expressed by the so-called "liberals," who have tried consistently to foster the idea that the "independent" holds the balance of power and that he must be appealed to on the highest level of highbrowism.

The truth is that the word "independent" is a misnomer. In England, they are far more realistic about it. They call the uncertain voters "switch" voters. This is because they go from party to party in each election, depending upon which way the wind is blowing from the economic standpoint.

Many of these "switch" voters do not go to the polls at all. If they are satisfied with current economic conditions, they are more than likely to stay at home rather than bother to cast a vote. When, however, they are aroused by some issue, whether economic or emotional — like corruption or a threat of war — these same voters show up at the polls.

The integrity of an administration can become the important issue in a national campaign, and emotions can be aroused over war and peace. In the absence of any emotional issue, economic considerations usually influence the vast majority of the voters. If they are satisfied, they continue the party in power. If they are displeased, they turn to the opposite party.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TOPS TWO MILLION — The 1960 census indicates that the Washington metropolitan area has crossed the two million mark, although the District of Columbia will probably show a population decline from the 1950 total.

Washington apparently is following the pattern being experienced by other metropolitan areas around the country. People are moving out of the central city into the suburbs.

Washington has a unique problem in trying to cope with this shift, however, in that other cities can expand their borders. Washington's is fixed by Congress and has not been changed for many years.

This means that the central city must find funds to finance road and other public utility and health and charity services, many of which are utilized by suburbanites who work in the capital but do not pay real estate or other taxes there.

Some cities have resorted to payroll taxes to make up this deficiency, but again, Washington's situation is unique because Congress is its governing body and would have to pass a law to permit this. It is unfortunately true that congressmen vote on Washington matters from the standpoint of the principles they espouse back home.

Thus, for example, Washington had difficulty for years in going on daylight time with other metropolitan areas because rural representatives did not want to vote against the desires of farmers, even though it affected only Washington and had nothing to do with the time a farmer had to get up to milk his cows.

In the present state of things, Congress is reluctant to provide money for Washington municipal needs or give it the necessary laws to be self sufficient. Thus, the importance of the population shift out of the city.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It's an old picture, a group of 61 stern men looking toward the camera. It was published in the Jersey Journal a few weeks ago and, underneath, the caption said: "The officers and men of Jersey City's Fifth Precinct pose for a formal portrait with other police officials in 1913 outside the old station house at Ocean and Cator Avenues."

Just a bunch of cops. They had recently discarded the old fawn colored helmet for the peaked cap. They still wore the long coats with the double row of brass buttons and the patent leather belt with the place in the back for the nightstick. Most of them wore mustaches, because it was manly to grow them.

The majority of these men are dead. A few are left, a precious few. In the third row center is my father, a young man of 29, skinny and serious. Directly in front of him is Alonzo Tier, my mother's dad, who was ready for retirement in 1913.

There is a story in most of these faces. The big fat man in the wing collar and the derby was Chief Frank Monaghan. He had a rich brogue and, when he spoke through the mustache, it sounded as though he had a dozen ball bearings on his tongue.

Once he paid a photographer to take his picture on the steps of City Hall. He sent a copy back to Ireland with a notation: "Here I am on the steps of my home in America. I want one and all to know that I am doing well in the new country."

Inspector Phillip Leonard, the man standing next to the chief, had more dignity than any man in town. In many ways, he was a natural puritan. It was Inspector Leonard's luck, one night around 1912, to be riding on an open air trolley when a stout woman spotted him. She had been on a Sunday picnic and had hiccups. She announced loudly she had never met him, but that she had admired him from afar. Then she threw her arms around him and the inspector's hat went off the trolley. So did the inspector.

She followed him up Bramhall Avenue, shouting protestations of esteem, and it was a warm night and the windows were open and the whole neighborhood heard it. He was a pale, shaken man for weeks.

In the second row, chin up, is the handsome face of Patrolman James Doherty. He had eyebrows like thick black crayon. Three years after posing for the picture, he would be patrolling the waterfront at night near Cavan Point. There was a little fire, a violent explosion, and Doherty would be the only person killed in the explosion at Black Tom.

Two removed from him was Patrolman Thomas O'Connor. Later, he would be a lieutenant in this precinct, but, before that, tragedy would hit him hard. In 1918, he would lose a beautiful wife and a lovely mother-in-law to influenza within three days. My grandfather, who looks fifty-ish in the picture — about the way I do now — would retire a few months after posing because a boy whom he used to run off the street corners with a nightstick was getting ahead in politics. The kid was Frank Hague.

On the sides of the photo are four mounted policemen. One of them used to do an 8-to-4 tour of duty and there was a brewery on his post. At 3:50 p.m. every day, he and the horse used to come down Cator Avenue, both drunk.

The policeman drank his beer out of a mug. The horse drank it out of a pail. The nag staggered from one side of Cator to the other, and the cop seemed always to be leaning to the opposite side.

At the far end of the fourth row was Patrolman Dennis O'Brien. He was a good policeman and a good friend to my father. He used to have O'Connor and Bishop to his house on Sunday afternoons, and they had good times together.

One night Dinny was on ambulance duty and was told to guard a prisoner who had been injured. O'Brien sat in the hospital room with him. After a while, Dinny dozed. The prisoner didn't. He got up, sneaked a gun out of his effects, and shot O'Brien. The bullet stopped beside the spine. Dinny lived for years, in pain and paralyzed. There were no more gay Sunday afternoons.

The tall stately man in front was Lieutenant Tom Finney. Next week, his son, Lieutenant Tom Finney, will retire.

It's an old picture, published as a sort of museum piece. There are 61 men in it and all of them had high hopes for the future.

Some turned out to be heroes. Some turned out to be funny. A few were tragic. All of them, so far as is known, turned out to be on the level. Except, of course, one horse, who shall be nameless . . .

You've Got To Act Fast To Beat Poison Ivy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many poison ivy preventives have been advocated but they are difficult to evaluate. Most of us develop this type of dermatitis once or twice during our lifetime. Those who take preventive shots and escape poison ivy never will know whether the phophylaxis deserves credit or whether they were lucky enough to avoid contact with the plant.

Dermatologists use more objective tests to determine the value of a prophylactic. At present, none of the preventive measures has demonstrated its worth when subjected to unbiased study. This includes the several barrier creams and lotions applied to the skin before exposure, as well as the preventive shots and tablets.

There is no mystery about the toxic varieties of ivy, oak, or sumac. Urushiol is the offending agent that produces redness and blistering of the skin. This oil or sap permeates the roots, stems, leaves, and berries and flows more freely when the plants are broken. But any contact calls for quick thinking and acting.

Strong soap and water will wash away urushiol from skin and clothing. Benzine, gasoline, vinegar, and spot remover — when available—are better solvents. The poisonous sap works fast and must be removed within a few minutes. It is too late once the material is absorbed into the skin.

When the die is cast, the victim must rely on soothing ointments such as those containing an antihistaminic or a corticosteroid. But these salves are not as effective as tablets containing cortisone, medrol, or prednisolone, which offer temporary relief until the poison is eliminated.

Nevada is the only state in the Union with no poison ivy. The plant is easy to detect and a good policy is to be on the lookout for it whenever walking through fields, forests, or bush. Remember, too, urushiol may be brought into the house on the fur of a pet hound or on a log for the fireplace.

TOMORROW: A new attack against polio.

ILLNESS IN DIABETICS

F. M. writes: My diabetes is controlled by diet but whenever I have even a slight indisposition, my sugar level goes up and I have to take insulin. Would you know why this happens?

REPLY

NERVOUS STOMACH

A. B. writes: What is done for gastric neurosis?

REPLY

Cure the neurosis and the stomach will take care of itself. Tension from worry, overwork, frustration, and lack of sleep are common causes.

BEER AND STUTTERING

V. I. T. writes: A 5 year old girl drinks a small glass of beer every day and more if she can get it. Could this be responsible for her stuttering?

REPLY

No. Stuttering is an emotional disorder and the reasons why her parents allow her to drink beer may be playing a role in her speech disorder. The majority of stutterers are not beer drinkers and vice versa.

SALIVARY STONE

Mrs. J. P. writes: An X-ray shows a small stone in my jaw. My doctor says to wait a few weeks and see if it comes out by itself. Is this a serious condition.

REPLY

Not serious but troublesome. These stones form in the salivary glands and may be milked out if they do not come out spontaneously.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

An editor asked an applicant for a secretarial job, "How many words a minute can you type?"

"What size words?" countered the applicant. "Do you, for instance, have frequent occasion to use the longest word in the English language? It's floccinaucinihilipilification."

It wasn't until she was on the job for a week that the editor discovered his new secretary had heard him spell that very word correctly on a TV quiz program, the preceding evening. She was ready when opportunity knocked!

Former President Truman has always been hipped on the subject of American history. They tell of a night when he was four years old and couldn't get to sleep. "What's going on in that head of yours?" asked his mother. The boy answered seriously, "I've been lying awake going over all the battles in the Revolution."

The teacher was talking about fur-bearing animals. "Tell me, Michael," she ordered. "Do we get fur from skunks?"

"We sure do," responded Michael. "Just as fur as we kin."

Nikita's Angry Again: Ho-Hum

Nikita Khrushchev, by his constant yammering, has become an international bore, and has worn out his power to scare. This seems to be the consensus in Washington and there may be more substance to such observations than meets the eye.

Russian Communist leaders are said to be consummate psychologists who have made a deep study of propaganda and therefore know just where and when to make a world-shaking remark and what language to use. But Khrushchev gives plain evidence of overdoing whatever he has in mind.

The secret of his bungling probably is that in his own bailiwick he gets nothing but praise because it isn't safe to utter anything else. A man in such a position is sure to lose his perspective and misinterpret the constant wave of applause that meets his outbursts.

Khrushchev's game seems to be to go through all the motions of war short of actually pressing the button, but a dulled weapon is the penalty of scaring people too often.

The bungling psychology of this situation is analogous to that of the old school-book story about the "boy who cried wolf." He overdid it, the result being that people quit paying attention to him.

If the Soviet boss keeps on screaming at the United States the time will soon come when the people of the Western countries will yawn and turn a deaf ear.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Freedom Academy

What do we mean by freedom? When we speak of the free nations, to contrast them with the Soviet bloc, what do we wish to convey? Can we win to our side the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America by favoring capitalism in opposition to some kind of socialism?

In a word, in the Cold War, what are our weapons? The most effective weapons are words, ideas translated into words, powerfully emotional slogans that drive men and women to frenzy. These are the weapons that Soviet Russia has used to build Communist parties in every country on Earth. This is the widespread, permanent Fifth Column which every nation faces. It is this force which captured Cuba; it is this force which is now sending young people into snake-dances in Japan.

What power have we been able to let loose to counteract this influence? Thus far, there has been very little. The USIA does a certain amount of work but it is hampered as a government agency. The Voice of America has done something but it has not fired the spirit of youth anywhere. MRA—the Moral Re-Armament movement—has, in a measure, been effective wherever it has been able to work.

Senator Karl Mundt has been studying this problem for many years and he has come up with the proposal for a "Freedom Academy" charged with undertaking a development and training program aimed at developing an integrated cold war operational science and training government personnel, private citizens and foreign students in this science."

One of our major problems in the Cold War is that Communism is to Americans an elusive idea. Advocated in the Marxian concept since 1848, well documented by brilliant writers, discussed pro and con in thousands of universities, meeting rooms and beer halls, in the United States this concept and movement made very little impression until the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 forced us to acknowledge its existence. Even then, we ignored the essential nature of Marxian sociology and devoted ourselves to a criticism of its economics. Anti-Communism often took on absurd forms, such as anti-Semitism or anti-Catholicism or anti-Negro, depending upon the nature of the anti-group. Those who do not understand Marxism cannot know how to attack Communism.

To this extent, the Freedom Academy can have meaning. The Communists have such schools in Moscow, Leningrad, Tashkent, Prague and elsewhere. The Prague school, for instance, specializes in training Latin Americans and Africans, while the Tashkent school trains Communists from Islamic countries. What are these men and women trained for? They are trained for subversion and propaganda. But the subjects they study are politics, ideological concepts, psychological warfare, sociology, economic and military methods, etc. When a trained Communist goes into a country, he knows the language, history, sociology, religions of the people. He can rapidly relate himself to the people.

They are motivated human beings. Their motivation is not only political but patriotic. Senator Mundt has served on many committees of both Houses of Congress which held prolonged hearings into Communist activities in this country. He has undoubtedly witnessed Americans rise to testify against Communist activity who did not know what they were talking about. He has undoubtedly heard American fellow travellers make statements about Communism which were unrelated to anything. He has said of the Freedom Academy:

"The ultimate purpose of the Freedom Academy is to train a cadre of dedicated Anti-Communists to lead and direct the forces of freedom on the political and psychological battlefronts of the world. To effectively offset and defeat Communist organizational weapons, we need trained and dedicated people who understand Communist strategy and who appreciate the tactics and the realities of a total global power struggle. In this way we would have the means and objectives of providing the Free World with skilled operatives to promote freedom's side of this Cold War. We are late in developing proper and effective methods of repelling the Communist conspiracy. But there is still time if we devote our great American talents, vision, and resources to this immediate problem."

The idea is sound if it is possible to find a staff who will face the truth honestly and deal with problems with an accent on what they really are and not what anyone wants them to be. Perhaps this is the time to explore its possibilities.

'I'm Going Up And Cut Us Loose'

By Drew Pearson

NEW YORK — Tuvia Friedmann, the man who spent 16 years tracking down the No. 2 killer of 6,000,000 Jews, is a quiet-spoken, intense Polish Jew who reminds you of a young edition of Premier Ben-Gurion. He is bald, with a bushy fringe of hair around the edges—like Ben-Gurion—and his determined eyes flash as do the Prime Minister's who has led the beleaguered little country of Israel through so many crises.

Tuvia Friedmann, with whom I spent several hours at a private meeting-place outside New York, showed me irrefutable evidence that West German authorities knew for at least two years where Adolf Eichmann was hiding in Argentina; that it knew his assumed name was Ricardo Clementung and that his address was Chacabuco 4261 Olivos, District Vincente Lopez, Buenos Aires Province.

The fact that the West German government had not moved to return to Germany the man who masterminded the murder of 6,000,000 Jews sheds important light on the reason why a little band of private Israelis, all former inmates of Nazi concentration camps, finally planned and accomplished his capture.

Fair Trial For Eichmann

Friedmann, who finally tracked Eichmann down in Argentina, also gave me some interesting facts regarding the trial planned for him in Israel.

"The day before I left Tel Aviv," he said, "I talked to the man who was assembling the evidence for the trial. From what he told me I am sure that Eichmann will receive the fairest trial in the world. He will not be tried merely on reports that he murdered Jews. The fact that people said he masterminded the murders will not be sufficient.

"Rather he will be tried on concrete evidence and the testimony of witnesses who saw him commit murder. My government is now planning to bring witnesses from all over the world. I have suggested that the 18 nations whose nationals were murdered in Eichmann's concentration camps be invited to send observers to the trial — not to give evidence, but to be satisfied that justice is done.

"It is only natural that many Jews are impatient," said the man who was patient for 16 years in tracking down Eichmann. "Some would like to see him hung immediately. But justice is not going to be hurried. It will take perhaps half a year to prepare for trial."

I asked Friedmann about the efforts of the Israeli Minister of Justice, Dr. Pinhas Rosen, to restrict comment in the Israeli press.

"Under Israeli law," explained Friedmann, "the press is not permitted to comment on a trial in any way that would prejudice the right of a fair trial. Some of the press felt that this was not just an ordinary criminal and they had the right to demand prompt and vigorous punishment for Eichmann.

"So the Minister of Justice went before the Knesset, our parliament," explained Friedmann, "and asked that the laws of fair trial in Israel be applied also to the Eichmann case and that there be no press editorialization regarding his punishment. The Knesset backed him up — further evidence that Eichmann will be tried fairly."

Enormity Of The Crime

At the age of 16 Friedman, now 41, was a prisoner in a Nazi ammunition factory. Toward the end of the war, at the age of 20, he dug a tunnel and escaped, joining the Polish underground and has spent his life tracking down those who murdered his father, his mother, and 6,000,000 Jews.

In the years that have passed, people's memories have dimmed regarding the enormity of the tragedy perpetrated against the Jewish people — and the part Eichmann played in it. Friedmann recalled some of the background.

"There were four stages of anti-Semitism in Germany," he said. "They got worse as the stages progressed. The first stage was between 1933 and 1938 at which time Hitler didn't murder the Jews. He merely took their property away.

"The second stage was between 1938-40 when Jews were ordered to leave their homes, with their possessions remaining behind. This was an effort to make it so difficult for Jews that they would get out of Germany. But the Jews had lived in their towns and villages for hundreds of years and were not discouraged easily.

"Then came the third stage between 1940-42," said Friedmann, "by this time the war was on, and Hitler's SS men set up ghettos to isolate the Jews from the Christian community.

"They were confined behind barbed-wire entanglements in the worst slum sections of the cities, about 10 people in a room, sometimes a vast population in a few city blocks. Disease broke out. Hunger was unbelievable. People began to die by the hundreds. There was a constant stream of hearses leaving these ghettos.

"However, this treatment of the Jews was both expensive and dangerous. Disease could spread and it was expensive to bury the dead.

"It was at this point," said Friedmann, "that Eichmann's fiendish genius for killing people at the lowest cost possible entered the picture. Mass murder was not easy, but Eichmann got to work devising the cheapest and most efficient system of mass murder ever know to man."

More of Tuvia Friedmann's story will follow in an early column.

"Independents" Are Not Usually Best-Informed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — A myth has been built up that the "independents" constitute the best-informed group in the entire electorate.

This writer has never accepted such a view and has contended just the opposite — namely, that the independents are swayed much more by superficial than critical analysis of the issues.

A book, entitled "The American Voter," has just been published which throws considerable light on the subject. Since it comes from academic sources, it might attract the attention of the many academicians who have from time to time been unwittingly exaggerating the importance of the "independent" vote.

The book was written by Professors Angus Campbell, Philip Converse, Warren Miller and Donald Stokes — members of the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan. All of them are in the field of political science and have participated in many surveys and researches on voter attitudes.

Far from confirming the widespread impression that "independents" are thoughtful, well-informed persons who have a profound knowledge of political issues, the Michigan experts contend that the voter who is consistently identified with one or the other of the political parties is likely to know more about the issues than is the independent. Some extracts from the book read as follows:

"The association is easily missed in popular accounts of electoral behavior. The ideal of the independent citizen, attentive to politics concerned with the course of government, who weighs the rival appeals of a campaign and reaches a judgment that is unswayed by partisan prejudice, has had such a vigorous history in the tradition of political reform — and has such a hold on civic education today — that one could easily suppose that the habitual partisan has the more limited interest and concern with politics.

"But if the usual image of the independent voter is intended as more than a normative ideal, it fits poorly the characteristics of the independents in our samples.

"Far from being more attentive, interested, and informed, independents tend as a group to be somewhat less involved in politics. They have somewhat poorer knowledge of the issues, their image of the candidates is fainter, their interest in the campaign is less, their concern over the outcome is relatively slight, and their choice between competing candidates, although it is indeed made later in the campaign, seems much less to spring from discoverable evaluations of the elements of national politics."

Detailed studies and polls show that of those citizens who are strongly identified with one or the other of the parties, 82 per cent "care very much" whereas 18 per cent "do not care very much or don't care at all." This contrasts with the record of the so-called "independents" who are divided almost 50-50 between those who "care very much" and those who "do not care very much or don't care at all."

The authors say: "The individual who has a strong and continuing involvement in politics is more likely to develop a commitment to one or the other of the major parties. And the individual who has such a commitment is likely to have his interest and concern with politics sustained at a higher level."

This is but another way of saying that the so-called "independents" are people who have not learned much from lofty speeches or pronouncements and are swayed in each campaign by emotional or economic considerations. This is the very opposite of the position often expressed by the so-called "liberals," who have tried consistently to foster the idea that the "independent" holds the balance of power and that he must be appealed to on the highest level of highbrowism.

The truth is that the word "independent" is a misnomer. In England, they are far more realistic about it. They call the uncertain voters "switch" voters. This is because they go from party to party in each election, depending upon which way the wind is blowing from the economic standpoint.

Many of these "switch" voters do not go to the polls at all. If they are satisfied with current economic conditions, they are more than likely to stay at home rather than bother to cast a vote. When, however, they are aroused by some issue, whether economic or emotional — like corruption or a threat of war — these same voters show up at the polls.

The integrity of an administration can become the important issue in a national campaign, and emotions can be aroused over war and peace. In the absence of any emotional issue, economic considerations usually influence the vast majority of the voters. If they are satisfied, they continue the party in power. If they are displeased, they turn to the opposite party.

You've Got To Act Fast To Beat Poison Ivy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many poison ivy preventives have been advocated but they are difficult to evaluate. Most of us develop this type of dermatitis once or twice during our lifetime. Those who take preventive shots and escape poison ivy never will know whether the phophylaxis deserves credit or whether they were lucky enough to avoid contact with the plant.

Dermatologists use more objective tests to determine the value of a prophylactic. At present, none of the preventive measures has demonstrated its worth when subjected to unbiased study. This includes the several barrier creams and lotions applied to the skin before exposure, as well as the preventive shots and tablets.

There is no mystery about the toxic varieties of ivy, oak, or sumac. Urushiol is the offending agent that produces redness and blistering of the skin. This oil or sap permeates the roots, stems, leaves, and berries and flows more freely when the plants are broken. But any contact calls for quick thinking and acting.

Strong soap and water will wash away urushiol from skin and clothing. Benzine, gasoline, vinegar, and spot remover — when available—are better solvents. The poisonous sap works fast and must be removed within a few minutes. It is too late once the material is absorbed into the skin.

When the die is cast, the victim must rely on soothing ointments such as those containing an antihistaminic or a corticosteroid. But these salves are not as effective as tablets containing cortisone, medrol, or prednisolone, which offer temporary relief until the poison is eliminated.

Nevada is the only state in the Union with no poison ivy. The plant is easy to detect and a good policy is to be on the lookout for it whenever walking through fields, forests, or bush. Remember, too, urushiol may be brought into the house on the fur of a pet hound or on a log for the fireplace.

ILLNESS IN DIABETICS

F. M. writes: My diabetes is controlled by diet but whenever I have even a slight indisposition, my sugar level goes up and I have to take insulin. Would you know why this happens?

REPLY

NERVOUS STOMACH

A. B. writes: What is done for gastric neurosis?

REPLY

Cure the neurosis and the stomach will take care of itself. Tension from worry, overwork, frustration, and lack of sleep are common causes.

BEER AND STUTTERING

V. I. T. writes: A 5 year old girl drinks a small glass of beer every day and more if she can get it. Could this be responsible for her stuttering?

REPLY

No. Stuttering is an emotional disorder and the reasons why her parents allow her to drink beer may be playing a role in her speech disorder. The majority of stutterers are not beer drinkers and vice versa.

SALIVARY STONE

Mrs. J. P. writes: An X-ray shows a small stone in my jaw. My doctor says to wait a few weeks and see if it comes out by itself. Is this a serious condition.

REPLY

Not serious but troublesome. These stones form in the salivary glands and may be milked out if they do not come out spontaneously.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

An editor asked an applicant for a secretarial job, "How many words a minute can you type?"

"What size words?" countered the applicant. "Do you, for instance, have frequent occasion to use the longest word in the English language? It's floccinaucinihilipilification."

It wasn't until she was on the job for a week that the editor discovered his new secretary had heard him spell that very word correctly on a TV quiz program, the preceding evening. She was ready when opportunity knocked!

Former President Truman has always been hipped on the subject of American history. They tell of a night when he was four years old and couldn't get to sleep. "What's going on in that head of yours?" asked his mother. The boy answered seriously, "I've been lying awake going over all the battles in the Revolution."

The teacher was talking about fur-bearing animals. "Tell me, Michael," she ordered. "Do we get fur from skunks?"

Keyser Church Campaign Tops $90,000 Goal

KEYSER — Keyser Presbyterians achieved success in the building fund canvass as the intensive phase came to an end on Saturday. The goal was $90,000. Dr. E. E. Church, general chairman, reported to the congregation Sunday that pledges had reached $90,189.95. A number of follow-up visits and other calls are to be made and it is believed that the total will be considerably more.

Weekly pledges to current expenses and benevolences are reported at almost $3,000 more than last year when computed on an annual basis.

The pastor, Dr. John D. MacLeod, expressed his appreciation for the cooperation and dedication of the church members which brought these results.

Canvass leaders in addition to Dr. Church, included David G. Nuzum, chairman of the Canvass committee; Charles E. Miller teams chairman; Fred Hamill, special gifts; N. Howard Rogers, initial gifts; and Kenneth Grace, team captains; William Burkett, Robert Boggs, C. Neff Wimer and J. Robert Panner. Miss Jean Emily Frost was hostess chairman.

Mahoney Denied Case Review

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI) — The State Supreme Court refused today to review the Mineral County Circuit Court conviction of Wellsford Mahoney.

Mahoney had been convicted of breaking and entering and sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the State Penitentiary. Mahoney maintained that the trial court should not have permitted certain evidence to be introduced.

Move Starts To Re-Open Old Tannery

Petersburg Group Launches Effort

PETERSBURG — Stockholders of the Petersburg Industrial Development Corporation are formulating plans to put the local tannery back into operation.

Re-activation plans were presented and discussed by the stockholders at a meeting last week. Attorney James Paul Geary, assisted by Attorney K. C. Van Meter Jr., explained the plan to the group and aired the purchase of the plant from Eagle-Ottawa Leather Corporation and its re-sale to Lowengart Company, the firm is now operating the Moorefield plant.

The plan includes raising $75,000 locally, the money to be used to purchase the plant. Upon purchase, Lowengart will be deeded the site by Eagle-Ottawa and a deed of trust will be retained by the industrial committee for $75,000.

If the money can be raised, Lowengart will install machinery and inventory in the amount of $250,000. One important point raised was that if for any reason operations were discontinued, the loan would be paid in full.

The proposal for raising funds included the issuance of notes in denominations of $500, with each being bought for varying periods of time within ten years.

The committee expressed hope that many will participate in purchasing these notes so that final plans can be made within two weeks. Six per cent interest will be paid on the notes.

Committees were appointed to prepare pledge forms for purchasers and plans were completed for the canvass which is to begin as soon as possible.

Lowengart now operates tanneries in Puerto Rico, New York, Mercersburg, Pa., and Moorefield. The local production will be shoe leather and employing will begin with about 40, to be increased to 65. If business conditions warrant, the number will eventually grow to 100.

Buccos Capitalize On Errors, Boost Lead To 2 Games

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates capitalized on San Francisco errors Tuesday night for a 6-3 victory, boosting their National League lead over the Giants to two games.

A wind-whipped crowd of 35,465 saw the Pirates push over four unearned runs in the opening two innings and go on to give right-hander Bob Friend his eighth pitching victory of the season against three setbacks.

The Giants played the first game in a seies of three against the league leaders without Willie Mays who suffered a stomach disorder. He was in uniform but his position was played by Felipe Alou. Friend went the route, striking out six and walking two. He gave up seven hits as his mates collected eight.

Cumberland Pitcher Signed By Pirates

CUMBERLAND, Va. (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have signed Cumberland High School pitching sensation Claude Meinhard.

The 18-year-old pitching ace has been signed to a class D contract. He will play with Kingsport, Tenn. of the Appalachian League.

The 6-2, 185-pound Meinhard had been approached by six scouts and was rated by Cumberland Coach E.H. Vasser "the best prospect I've seen in this area for 15 or 20 years."

Meinhard has a 19-2 pitching record for four years of varsity playing. He also had a high batting average this year of .485 and five home runs.

Holmberg And Frost Win Over Russians

LONDON (UPI) — Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., ousted Russians in straight sets Tuesday while leading four United States players into the third round at the London lawn tennis championships.

Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis were the other Yanks who reached the last 16.

Musial Would Like To Play For Bucs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Post-Dispatch suggested Tuesday that Stan Musial, expected to wind up his illustrious career on the St. Louis Cardinals' bench would be willing to play for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Broeg said the Pirates would have a better chance of winning their first pennant since 1927 if they acquired the $80,000 star. Musial comes from Donora, Pa., not far from Pittsburgh.

LaMotta Says He Threw Bout In '47 So He Could Get Shot At The Title

Jake Tells Senate Probers Bout With Billy Fox Fixed

Offered Bribe Of $100,000 If He Lost Fight To Janiro

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jake LaMotta — boosting what a good fighter he used to be—confessed Tuesday he threw a bout nearly 13 years ago in return for a promised crack at the middleweight crown he later won.

But LaMotta—sweat beading his face—backpedaled anxiously from an earlier statement to Senate probers. That statement fingered an alleged rackets figure as the fixer of his 1947 bout with Billy Fox, and two boxing managers as offering him $100,000 to take a dive in front of Fox.

The alleged fixer was identified as Thomas Milo; the other two as Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Bill Daly. Palermo, a Philadelphian, has pleaded innocent to extortion and other charges growing out of a California boxing probe. He is due to stand trial July 12, but the case may be postponed.

Onetime champ LaMotta—who hasn't been in the ring since 1954—bridled when counsel Rand Dixon of the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee suggested La Motta's memory became cloudy because of fear of reprisals against him or his brother, Joey, who managed him.

Not Afraid Of Rats

"I'm not afraid of none of them rats," LaMotta rasped.

Brother Joey invoked the Fifth Amendment when he was called, refusing to testify about any attempts to bribe Jake.

Joey, who is younger than Jake, denied he or his family had been threatened.

"Are you fearful of your life if you were to testify here?" Dixon asked.

"No," Joey replied.

Source on the Senate group said they are on the alert for any threats against the two LaMottas, but they knew of none so far.

Agreed To Lose Bout

Jake told the subcommittee he spurned the $100,000 offer—and another the same size to lose another fight—but agreed to let Fox defeat him on Nov. 14, 1947, so he could get a shot at the title.

In New York, a spokesman for Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said his office had made an investigation of the LaMotta-Fox bout. "Now that the statute of limitations has run out, Mr. LaMotta is saying what he refused to say at the time," the spokesman said.

"I was the uncrowned champion," LaMotta declared pridefully. Once known as the "Bronx Bull," he said he was so good he had trouble getting fights and was "willing to give anything" for a try at the middleweight title.

He swore the bribe offers came to him through his brother-manager and he said he wasn't interested in details.

Probe Underworld

Togged out in a sporty brown suit and yellow tie, LaMotta was the first witness as the subcommittee opened hearings avowedly aimed at looking into monopoly aspects of professional boxing. As part of its work, the subcommittee is trying to assess underworld influences in the sport.

LaMotta admitted he had falsely denied to New York authorities he had thrown the fight to Fox.

In New York, Col. Edward Egan, former chairman of the Athletic Commission, said "if I had any idea that there was a fix on, I would have canceled the fight immediately."

LaMotta testified the odor stayed so strong he had to wait two years before arranging the 1949 match in which he took the title from Marcel Cerdan, an Algerian Frenchman who was killed in a plane crash later that year.

Kicked In $20,000

Even then, LaMotta said, he had to kick in $20,000 of his own—$1,000 more than the purse he got for beating Cerdan in Detroit. However, LaMotta said he made $16,000 on the Cerdan fight by betting on himself. As for who got the $20,000, LaMotta said he didn't know, that he paid it through brother Joey.

In the Fox fight, referee Frank Fullam called a halt in the fourth round and credited Fox with a k.o. It was the first time LaMotta, then 26, had ever been knocked out in eight years in the ring.

LaMotta spoke freely about his conduct in that fight. And he told of rejecting $100,000 to throw that bout and another $100,000 to lose to Tony Janiro on June 6, 1947. He won a decision over Janiro.

Ruptured Spleen

He recalled that while training for the Fox fight, he ruptured his spleen and, as the time for the bout neared, "I realized I couldn't possibly win, and I said I would lose if given a championship bout."

But he balked when subcommittee investigators confronted him with statements they said he made about the sources of the alleged bribes in both the Fox and Janiro fights.

The probers said LaMotta signed a statement on May 11 naming Daly and Palermo as the men who offered him $100,000 to lose to Fox, and Milo as the man he believed handled the title match guarantee bribe.

LaMotta said he was mistaken, but the statement went into the record anyway.

Got $100,000 Offer

In that statement, LaMotta said his best recollection was that his brother Joey had informed him Palermo and Daly had offered $100,000 if he would throw the match to Fox.

"They were not," LaMotta replied when asked whether it was a fact that Palermo and Daly "were mentioned by your brother" in connection with the bribe offer.

"Somebody was mentioned but I don't remember who," LaMotta said.

Larry Jackson Posts Eighth Straight Win

St. Louis Cardinals Conquer Reds, 6-3

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Home runs by Ken Boyer and Curt Flood powered the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night while right-hander Larry Jackson tossed a five-hitter to notch his eighth straight triumph and ninth of the season.

The victory moved the Cardinals into fourth place.

Boyer's homer, his 17th of the season, was with Bob Nieman aboard in the first inning. In the third inning Flood boosted the Cards ahead 5 to 0 with a three-run blast. Victim of both homers was Red starter Jim O'Toole, who absorbed his sixth loss against four wins.

The Reds, helped along by a Spencer error, scored two runs in the third inning and a third in the fourth on Jerry Lynch's home run.

Birds Move Within .001 Of Leaders

Baltimore Scores Four Runs In Rain Splattered Eighth

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles scored four runs in the rain-splattered eighth inning—which took 1 hour and 42 minutes to play — and knocked off the Cleveland Indians 7-4 Tuesday night to move within .001 of the American League leaders.

The Orioles led 3-1 at the start of the inning, which was held up for 11 minutes by rain. Then Baltimore loaded the bases with none out and the downpour came again. This time the game was interrupted for 77 minutes.

Marv Breeding drove in one run with a single, Al Pilarcik squeezed home another tally and Gene Woodling, getting his third single, knocked home two more. That made it 7-1.

But winner Milt Pappas (4-5) didn't profit by the long rest and was tagged for three Cleveland runs in the eighth on three hits and a pair of walks. Jim Piersall's bases-loaded single accounted for two runs and a sacrifice fly by Bob Hale got the other marker. It took two hours and two minutes to finish the eighth frame.

Baltimore, victors in only three of its last eight games, collected 14 hits off starter Gary Bell (6-5) and relievers Dick Stigman, Johnny Klippstein and John Briggs.

The Indians, now on a three-game losing string after five straight victories, tagged Pappas and Jerry Walker, who came to the rescue in the eighth, for 13 hits.

Detroit Wins, 2-1 Over Red Sox

DETROIT (UPI) —Norm Cash, who has been riding the bench because of light hitting, delivered a two-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over Boston Tuesday night.

Cash's blow, his fourth of the year, came off Bill Monbouquette after Chico Fernandez had singled with two outs.

The homer spoiled the return of Mike Higgins as manager of the Red Sox. Fired as Boston's pilot last season, he replaced Billy Jurges in a manager shuffle over the weekend and joined the club Tuesday.

The only run off Bunning, who struck out 13 batters in the seven innings he worked, was Ted Williams' 498th major league home run in the sixth. It was Williams' sixth of the year.

Hobbie Beats Braves, 3-2

Chicago Twirler Hurls Two-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Glen Hobbie, of the Chicago Cubs, who had a no-hitter going until the eighth inning, allowed home runs to Del Crandall and Eddie Mathews in the last two innings, but hung on to defeat the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, Tuesday night.

It was the second year in a row that the 24-year-old righthander had hurled a no-hitter until the eighth inning and then lost it. Last year Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals broke up Hobbie's try for baseball fame with a single.

Hobbie, using a sharp curve and a hard fast ball, was gathering strength as the game progressed. He had walked three men and hit one batter, but had retired the last six batters to face him until the eighth.

Crandall hit Hobbie's first pitch in the eighth inning high into the right field bleachers for his 10th homer of the year. With one out in the ninth, Mathews hit his 12th of the season out of the park.

Home runs accounted for two of Chicago's tallies. Ernie Banks hit his 17th of the year to lead off the fourth inning and Frank Thomas hit a homer that amounted to the winning run with one out and nobody on in the sixth.

The Cubs added another run in the fourth off Milwaukee loser Bob Buhl. After Banks' homer, Ed Bouchee and Thomas walked and Don Zimmer singled Bouchee across.

Hobbie now has a 6-7 record and it was his eighth lifetime win against only two losses against the Braves.

Maris Hits 18th As Coates Posts 7th Victory, 6-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Roger Maris knocked in five runs and enabled Jim Coates to post his seventh victory Tuesday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Athletics 6-2.

Maris, Kansas City's rightfielder last year, banged out a single, double and his 18th home run in pacing a 11-hit attack against his former teammates.

The win was the seventh consecutive for the Yankees and gave them a 6-0 edge over Kansas City for the season.

The loss was the first of the season for Kucks, compared with one victory. Marty Kutyna and Leo Kiely pitched the last two innings for Kansas City.

Russo Is Through Racing For Season

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Race driver Eddie Russo, injured severely in the Indianapolis 500-mile race two weeks ago, will be out of competition for the rest of the season. He was released from the hospital Monday.

Dr. Tom Hanna, medical d rector at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, said Russo has recovered from the brain concussion incurred when his racer smashed into a wall on the 84th lap of the Memorial Day race.

But "visual troubles resulting from the injury" make racing out of the question Dr. Hanna said.

Buccos Capitalize On Errors, Boost Lead To 2 Games

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates capitalized on San Francisco errors Tuesday night for a 6-3 victory, boosting their National League lead over the Giants to two games.

A wind-whipped crowd of 35,465 saw the Pirates push over four unearned runs in the opening two innings and go on to give right-hander Bob Friend his eighth pitching victory of the season against three setbacks.

The Giants played the first game in a seies of three against the league leaders without Willie Mays who suffered a stomach disorder. He was in uniform but his position was played by Felipe Alou. Friend went the route, striking out six and walking two. He gave up seven hits as his mates collected eight.

Cumberland Pitcher Signed By Pirates

CUMBERLAND, Va. (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have signed Cumberland High School pitching sensation Claude Meinhard.

The 18-year-old pitching ace has been signed to a class D contract. He will play with Kingsport, Tenn. of the Appalachian League.

The 6-2, 185-pound Meinhard had been approached by six scouts and was rated by Cumberland Coach E.H. Vasser "the best prospect I've seen in this area for 15 or 20 years."

Meinhard has a 19-2 pitching record for four years of varsity playing. He also had a high batting average this year of .485 and five home runs.

Holmberg And Frost Win Over Russians

LONDON (UPI) — Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., ousted Russians in straight sets Tuesday while leading four United States players into the third round at the London lawn tennis championships.

Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis were the other Yanks who reached the last 16.

Musial Would Like To Play For Bucs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Post-Dispatch suggested Tuesday that Stan Musial, expected to wind up his illustrious career on the St. Louis Cardinals' bench would be willing to play for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Broeg said the Pirates would have a better chance of winning their first pennant since 1927 if they acquired the $80,000 star. Musial comes from Donora, Pa., not far from Pittsburgh.

LaMotta Says He Threw Bout In '47 So He Could Get Shot At The Title

Jake Tells Senate Probers Bout With Billy Fox Fixed

Offered Bribe Of $100,000 If He Lost Fight To Janiro

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jake LaMotta — boosting what a good fighter he used to be—confessed Tuesday he threw a bout nearly 13 years ago in return for a promised crack at the middleweight crown he later won.

But LaMotta—sweat beading his face—backpedaled anxiously from an earlier statement to Senate probers. That statement fingered an alleged rackets figure as the fixer of his 1947 bout with Billy Fox, and two boxing managers as offering him $100,000 to take a dive in front of Fox.

The alleged fixer was identified as Thomas Milo; the other two as Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Bill Daly. Palermo, a Philadelphian, has pleaded innocent to extortion and other charges growing out of a California boxing probe. He is due to stand trial July 12, but the case may be postponed.

Onetime champ LaMotta—who hasn't been in the ring since 1954—bridled when counsel Rand Dixon of the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee suggested LaMotta's memory became cloudy because of fear of reprisals against him or his brother, Joey, who managed him.

Not Afraid Of Rats

"I'm not afraid of none of them rats," LaMotta rasped.

Brother Joey invoked the Fifth Amendment when he was called, refusing to testify about any attempts to bribe Jake.

Joey, who is younger than Jake, denied he or his family had been threatened.

"Are you fearful of your life if you were to testify here?" Dixon asked.

"No," Joey replied.

Source on the Senate group said they are on the alert for any threats against the two LaMottas, but they knew of none so far.

Agreed To Lose Bout

Jake told the subcommittee he spurned the $100,000 offer—and another the same size to lose another fight—but agreed to let Fox defeat him on Nov. 14, 1947, so he could get a shot at the title.

In New York, a spokesman for Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said his office had made an investigation of the LaMotta-Fox bout. "Now that the statute of limitations has run out, Mr. LaMotta is saying what he refused to say at the time," the spokesman said.

"I was the uncrowned champion," LaMotta declared pridefully. Once known as the "Bronx Bull," he said he was so good he had trouble getting fights and was "willing to give anything" for a try at the middleweight title.

He swore the bribe offers came to him through his brother-manager and he said he wasn't interested in details.

Probe Underworld

Togged out in a sporty brown suit and yellow tie, LaMotta was the first witness as the subcommittee opened hearings avowedly aimed at looking into monopoly aspects of professional boxing. As part of its work, the subcommittee is trying to assess underworld influences in the sport.

LaMotta admitted he had falsely denied to New York authorities he had thrown the fight to Fox.

In New York, Col. Edward Egan, former chairman of the Athletic Commission, said "if I had any idea that there was a fix on, I would have canceled the fight immediately."

LaMotta testified the odor stayed so strong he had to wait two years before arranging the 1949 match in which he took the title from Marcel Cerdan, an Algerian Frenchman who was killed in a plane crash later that year.

Kicked In $20,000

Even then, LaMotta said, he had to kick in $20,000 of his own—$1,000 more than the purse he got for beating Cerdan in Detroit. However, LaMotta said he made $16,000 on the Cerdan fight by betting on himself. As for who got the $20,000, LaMotta said he didn't know, that he paid it through brother Joey.

In the Fox fight, referee Frank Fullam called a halt in the fourth round and credited Fox with a k.o. It was the first time LaMotta, then 26, had ever been knocked out in eight years in the ring.

LaMotta spoke freely about his conduct in that fight. And he told of rejecting $100,000 to throw that bout and another $100,000 to lose to Tony Janiro on June 6, 1947. He won a decision over Janiro.

Ruptured Spleen

He recalled that while training for the Fox fight, he ruptured his spleen and, as the time for the bout neared, "I realized I couldn't possibly win, and I said I would lose if given a championship bout."

But he balked when subcommittee investigators confronted him with statements they said he made about the sources of the alleged bribes in both the Fox and Janiro fights.

The probers said LaMotta signed a statement on May 11 naming Daly and Palermo as the men who offered him $100,000 to lose to Fox, and Milo as the man he believed handled the title match guarantee bribe.

LaMotta said he was mistaken, but the statement went into the record anyway.

Got $100,000 Offer

In that statement, LaMotta said his best recollection was that his brother Joey had informed him Palermo and Daly had offered $100,000 if he would throw the match to Fox.

"They were not," LaMotta replied when asked whether it was a fact that Palermo and Daly "were mentioned by your brother" in connection with the bribe offer.

"Somebody was mentioned but I don't remember who," LaMotta said.

Larry Jackson Posts Eighth Straight Win

St. Louis Cardinals Conquer Reds, 6-3

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Home runs by Ken Boyer and Curt Flood powered the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night while right-hander Larry Jackson tossed a five-hitter to notch his eighth straight triumph and ninth of the season.

The victory moved the Cardinals into fourth place.

Boyer's homer, his 17th of the season, was with Bob Nieman aboard in the first inning. In the third inning Flood boosted the Cards ahead 5 to 0 with a three-run blast. Victim of both homers was Red starter Jim O'Toole, who absorbed his sixth loss against four wins.

Baltimore Scores Four Runs In Rain Splattered Eighth

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles scored four runs in the rain-splattered eighth inning—which took 1 hour and 42 minutes to play — and knocked off the Cleveland Indians 7-4 Tuesday night to move within .001 of the American League leaders.

The Orioles led 3-1 at the start of the inning, which was held up for 11 minutes by rain. Then Baltimore loaded the bases with none out and the downpour came again. This time the game was interrupted for 77 minutes.

Marv Breeding drove in one run with a single. Al Pilarcik squeezed home another tally and Gene Woodling, getting his third single, knocked home two more. That made it 7-1.

But winner Milt Pappas (4-5) didn't profit by the long rest and was tagged for three Cleveland runs in the eighth on three hits and a pair of walks. Jim Piersall's bases-loaded single accounted for two runs and a sacrifice fly by Bob Hale got the other marker. It took two hours and two minutes to finish the eighth frame.

Baltimore, victors in only three of its last eight games, collected 14 hits off starter Gary Bell (6-5) and relievers Dick Stigman, Johnny Klippstein and John Briggs.

The Indians, now on a three-game losing string after five straight victories, tagged Pappas and Jerry Walker, who came to the rescue in the eighth, for 13 hits.

Detroit Wins, 2-1 Over Red Sox

DETROIT (UPI) —Norm Cash, who has been riding the bench because of light hitting, delivered a two-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over Boston Tuesday night.

Cash's blow, his fourth of the year, came off Bill Monbouquette after Chico Fernandez had singled with two outs.

The homer spoiled the return of Mike Higgins as manager of the Red Sox. Fired as Boston's pilot last season, he replaced Billy Jurges in a manager shuffle over the weekend and joined the club Tuesday.

The only run off Bunning, who struck out 13 batters in the seven innings he worked, was Ted Williams' 498th major league home run in the sixth. It was Williams' sixth of the year.

Hobbie Beats Braves, 3-2

Chicago Twirler Hurls Two-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Glen Hobbie, of the Chicago Cubs, who had a no-hitter going until the eighth inning, allowed home runs to Del Crandall and Eddie Mathews in the last two innings, but hung on to defeat the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, Tuesday night.

It was the second year in a row that the 24-year-old righthander had hurled a no-hitter until the eighth inning and then lost it. Last year Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals broke up Hobbie's try for baseball fame with a single.

Hobbie, using a sharp curve and a hard fast ball, was gathering strength as the game progressed. He had walked three men and hit one batter, but had retired the last six batters to face him until the eighth.

Crandall hit Hobbie's first pitch in the eighth inning high into the right field bleachers for his 10th homer of the year. With one out in the ninth, Mathews hit his 12th of the season out of the park.

Home runs accounted for two of Chicago's tallies. Ernie Banks hit his 17th of the year to lead off the fourth inning and Frank Thomas hit a homer that amounted to the winning run with one out and nobody on in the sixth.

The Cubs added another run in the fourth off Milwaukee loser Bob Buhl. After Banks' homer, Ed Bouchee and Thomas walked and Don Zimmer singled Bouchee across.

Maris Hits 18th As Coates Posts 7th Victory, 6-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Roger Maris knocked in five runs and enabled Jim Coates to post his seventh victory Tuesday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Kansas City Athletics 6-2.

Maris, Kansas City's rightfielder last year, banged out a single, double and his 18th home run in pacing a 11-hit attack against his former teammates.

The win was the seventh consecutive for the Yankees and gave them a 6-0 edge over Kansas City for the season.

The loss was the first of the season for Kucks, compared with one victory. Marty Kutyna and Leo Kiely pitched the last two innings for Kansas City.

Russo Is Through Racing For Season

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Race driver Eddie Russo, injured severely in the Indianapolis 500-mile race two weeks ago, will be out of competition for the rest of the season. He was released from the hospital Monday.

Dr. Tom Hanna, medical d rector at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, said Russo has recovered from the brain concussion incurred when his racer smashed into a wall on the 84th lap of the Memorial Day race.

Ortiz Favored To Defeat Loi In Title Bout

Junior Welters Fight On Coast

Loi, at 31, comes into the ring with a record of 104 wins, only one loss and six draws. This compared with the limited battles of the champion who has had only 33—with 31 wins and two defeats.

Loi is the European welterweight champion and is considered to be one of the finest left-hookers ever to come from the continent. He has indicated he may shift to the southpaw stancen for this one because one of Ortiz' defeats was at the hands of a left-hander, Kenny Lane.

Ringside observers believe that the bout will go the distance, despite the knockout abilities of both men. Ortiz has kayoed Battling Torrest, Lane and Len Mathews in his last three outings.

Loi has much more experience in championship contests. While Ortiz won his crown by kayoing Lane and then defending it by putting Torrest to sleep, Loi has engaged in 17 championship bouts in Europe. Twelve of these have gone the 15-round distance and four of the others went 12 rounds.

Ortiz Favored To Defeat Loi In Title Bout

Junior Welters Fight On Coast

The scheduled 15-round bout, to be staged in the Cow Palace, will be nationally televised with a regional black-out.

Loi, at 31, comes into the ring with a record of 104 wins, only one loss and six draws. This compared with the limited battles of the champion who has had only 33—with 31 wins and two defeats.

Loi is the European welterweight champion and is considered to be one of the finest left-hookers ever to come from the continent. He has indicated he may shift to the southpaw stancen for this one because one of Ortiz' defeats was at the hands of a left-hander, Kenny Lane.

Ringside observers believe that the bout will go the distance, despite the knockout abilities of both men. Ortiz has kayoed Battling Torrest, Lane and Len Mathews in his last three outings.

Loi has much more experience in championship contests. While Ortiz won his crown by kayoing Lane and then defending it by putting Torrest to sleep, Loi has engaged in 17 championship bouts in Europe. Twelve of these have gone the 15-round distance and four of the others went 12 rounds.

Maroons, Orioles Game Reset Friday

The "Battle of LaVale" between the Maroons and the Orioles of the Pen-Mar Little League was postponed yesterday because of rain but is rescheduled for Friday at 6 p. m., at Parkside Field.

Rain also washed out the two other Pen-Mar games scheduled yesterday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—With the "go" sign flashing on all the major lots now that the writers strike is settled, both Elvis Presley and 20th Century Fox are in great luck because his new script is written—and ready to start Aug. 8th. there will be no delay preparing "Flaming Lance" as two years ago Nunally Johnson wrote the adaptation of Clair Huffaker's novel about a boy who is half Indian and half white in West Texas.

It's sort of a Western for Elvis who, by the way, has cut that pompadour, thank goodness. David Weisbart, who has been set by Buddy Adler to produce, is changing the title because "Flaming Lance" is too much like "Broken Lance."

Looks like Elvis has a rugged time ahead catching up with all the movies backed up for him during the months when he was in the Army in Germany.

Combining a honeymoon with an all-expenses-paid trip to Europe has come along for Michael Callan and Corlyn Chapman. On June 20th the newlyweds take off for Sapin where Mike will star in Charlie Schneer's "The Mysterious Island." Jules Verne's classic. Schneer has been very successful with the semi-fantasy features he's made for Columbia including "7th Voyage of Sinbad" and "The Three Worlds of Gulliver" also shot in Spain.

Young Callan was supposed to have gone into "West Side Story" on the screen (he was in the Broadway version when Columbia brought him to Hollywood). But his home studio has high hopes about this boy and decided to keep him in one of their own movies.

Paul Newman gave his enthusiastic approval of the script of "Paris Blues" to George Glass and Walter Seltzer who are just back from Israel where they conferred with Paul and director Martin Ritt.

"We plan to start the movie in a studio outside of Paris the middle of October," George said. "We have signed Diahann Carroll for a featured role. She'll have her baby the first of September and our first rehearsals are set for October 10th."

Diahann, one of our better singers, will sing nary a note. She plays the role of an American schoolteacher who falls in love with jazz musician Sidney Poitier. Newman's love interest is yet to be cast.

Television is borrowing a leaf from the motion picture book by filming scenes all over the world. Collier Young, just back from London, says he'll show the spirit of a daring Yankee TV producer by filming segments of "One Step Beyond" in genuine old haunted by English castles.

Collier said he doesn't know how the ghosts will receive him and his company since they've been used to haunting only kings, dukes and earls. But he's arranged to put their true stories on TV and he'll use important British stars such as John Mills, Sam Wanamaker and others.

I was relieved to find the reports that Bobby Darin was in the hospital were untrue. I talked with Bobby on the long distance telephone and he said, "I had a local infection in my throat and missed only one performance at the Copacabana. I am in my office now and feeling great."

While I had him on the phone I asked Bobby when he and Joann Campbell were getting married. He laughed and said, "Not for a long, long time. We both agree on that. However, I almost changed my mind when I went to Dick Behrke's (his conductor) wedding last week. But if we make any other plans I'll let you know first."

I'm putting this down in black and white, Bobby, so you won't forget.

Supervisors and leaders in the nine-week Recreation Department playground season began a training institute yesterday at City Hall.

Sessions will move to the North End Playground field house today, Thursday and Friday.

Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason and Assistant Director Eva M. Hogan were in charge of yesterday's session. Mason introduced Mayor J. Edwin Keech who told play leaders that the Mayor and Council "looks with pride" on the successful operation of the Recreation Department and is grateful to the people in charge of it. He said the city expects this to be the largest playground season yet and wished the workers every success.

Pennies Missing In Theft Here

The doctor's office, located on the second floor of the building, was ransacked, however only 25 pennies were reported missing.

Det. Thomas See said the intruder entered the office by forcing a rear window.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—With the "go" sign flashing on all the major lots now that the writers strike is settled, both Elvis Presley and 20th Century Fox are in great luck because his new script is written—and ready to start Aug. 8th. there will be no delay preparing "Flaming Lance" as two years ago Nunally Johnson wrote the adaptation of Clair Huffaker's novel about a boy who is half Indian and half white in West Texas.

It's sort of a Western for Elvis who, by the way, has cut that pompadour, thank goodness. David Weisbart, who has been set by Buddy Adler to produce, is changing the title because "Flaming Lance" is too much like "Broken Lance."

Looks like Elvis has a rugged time ahead catching up with all the movies backed up for him during the months when he was in the Army in Germany.

Combining a honeymoon with an all-expenses-paid trip to Europe has come along for Michael Callan and Corlyn Chapman. On June 20th the newlyweds take off for Sapin where Mike will star in Charlie Schneer's "The Mysterious Island." Jules Verne's classic. Schneer has been very successful with the semi-fantasy features he's made for Columbia including "7th Voyage of Sinbad" and "The Three Worlds of Gulliver" also shot in Spain.

Young Callan was supposed to have gone into "West Side Story" on the screen (he was in the Broadway version when Columbia brought him to Hollywood). But his home studio has high hopes about this boy and decided to keep him in one of their own movies.

Paul Newman gave his enthusiastic approval of the script of "Paris Blues" to George Glass and Walter Seltzer who are just back from Israel where they conferred with Paul and director Martin Ritt.

"We plan to start the movie in a studio outside of Paris the middle of October," George said. "We have signed Diahann Carroll for a featured role. She'll have her baby the first of September and our first rehearsals are set for October 10th."

Diahann, one of our better singers, will sing nary a note. She plays the role of an American schoolteacher who falls in love with jazz musician Sidney Poitier. Newman's love interest is yet to be cast.

Television is borrowing a leaf from the motion picture book by filming scenes all over the world. Collier Young, just back from London, says he'll show the spirit of a daring Yankee TV producer by filming segments of "One Step Beyond" in genuine old haunted by English castles.

Collier said he doesn't know how the ghosts will receive him and his company since they've been used to haunting only kings, dukes and earls. But he's arranged to put their true stories on TV and he'll use important British stars such as John Mills, Sam Wanamaker and others.

I was relieved to find the reports that Bobby Darin was in the hospital were untrue. I talked with Bobby on the long distance telephone and he said, "I had a local infection in my throat and missed only one performance at the Copacabana. I am in my office now and feeling great."

While I had him on the phone I asked Bobby when he and Joann Campbell were getting married. He laughed and said, "Not for a long, long time. We both agree on that. However, I almost changed my mind when I went to Dick Behrke's (his conductor) wedding last week. But if we make any other plans I'll let you know first."

I'm putting this down in black and white, Bobby, so you won't forget.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
STATE ROADS COMMISSION OF MARYLAND, Acting for and on behalf of the STATE OF MARYLAND vs. CORRIGANVILLE VOLUNTEER FIRE CO., INC., Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Trustee; All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Beneficiaries. No. 4045 Law IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY. Filed June 3rd 1960.

PETITION NO. 4045

The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, Maryland, belonging to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., Trustee, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries and the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

The State Roads Commission of Maryland is charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland.

That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said Petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, consisting of 1.20 acres, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on the attached Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, and also all that property outside said lines, outlined by shading as shown and/or indicated on the attached Plat No. 22158 consisting of 2.23 acres, more or less, and .067 acres, more or less, for slope and drainage easements, as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, roads, privileges, appurtenances and advantages to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining, together with the right or easement to create, use and maintain on the land shown hatched thus on the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, insofar as their property rights extend, such drainage structures and facilities as are necessary to adequately drain the roadway and/or adjacent property and such slopes as are necessary to retain the said roadway and/or adjacent property, it being understood that at such time as the contour of the land over which this right or easement is acquired is changed so that this easement required for slopes is no longer necessary to support or protect the property hereby to be acquired in fee simple, then said easement for slopes shall cease to be effective, together with the right to create, use and maintain on or across the adjacent land of the defendants, such waterways and/or inlets and outlets as are necessary for the drainage structures indicated in the legend shown in the left hand corner of the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 22158, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Cash Valley Road, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Maryland Route #36, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with the perpetual right to erect and maintain between October 1st and April 1st of each and every year, on the adjacent land of the defendants, within one hundred feet of the land hereby condemned in fee simple, snow fences, provided that said snow fences shall not interfere with the construction and use of buildings now erected or hereafter erected, with growing crops, or roadways, together with all the right whatsoever of vehicular ingress and egress between the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across the right of way lines which are marked "Throughout This Portion Of The Right Of Way All Vehicular Access Is Denied", to the end that there never will be any vehicular access to or from the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across those portions of the right of way lines which are so marked on the beforementioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

The Petition further states that the said property is now held under the provisions of a Will of Joseph C. Corrigan, deceased to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Trustee, probated on March 14, 1947 in Liber No. "V", Folio 420, among the Will Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

(a) The property hereby sought to be condemned is subject to the lien of real estate taxes levied by and due the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

That the land and property is sought to be condemned in connection with the State System of Roads and Bridges, and especially for the construction of Maryland Route 36, from U. S. Route 40 to Corriganville in Allegany County, Maryland.

That the Petitioner is unable to make an agreement with the defendants and that the Petitioner has deposited a check under the provisions of Chapter 59 of the Acts of 1956, in the amount of Six Hundred Thirty and are herewith depositing an additional check in the sum of One Thousand, One hundre Seventy, making a total of One Thousand Eight Hundred ($1,800.00) Dollars, payable to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, to the use of the aforesaid defendants, in the hands of the said Clerk, in conformity with the provisions of Article 89B, Section 9, Public General Laws of Maryland, said Petitioner deeming the said sum to be the fair value of the land taken and damages done to the property, and that it is in the public interest and necessary for them to take possession immediately upon depositing said money and that they are taking possession for the aforesaid purposes.

That your Petitioner is unable to designate by name all persons having an interest in the hereinbefore described parcel of land by reason of the indefinite nature of same, and your Petitioner accordingly makes parties to this proceeding, All Residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, to the end that all of their right, title and interest of whatever extent or character may be divested of them and vested in the State Roads Commission of Maryland, acting for and on behalf of the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREUPON ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, this 3 day of June, 1960, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Allegany County, State of Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks before the 7" day of July, 1960, shall give notice to the Defendants, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, of the substance and object of the petition and to appear in the Circuit Court for Allegany County on or before the 9" day of August, 1960, and file their answer or other initial pleading in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Cumberland, Maryland, and to show cause, if any they may have, why the said property or said Defendants' interest therein should not be condemned as prayed in said Petition.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
STATE ROADS COMMISSION OF MARYLAND, Acting for and on behalf of the STATE OF MARYLAND vs. CORRIGANVILLE VOLUNTEER FIRE CO., INC., Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Trustee: All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Allegany County, Maryland, Beneficiaries. No. 4045 Law IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR ALLEGANY COUNTY. Filed June 3rd 1960.

PETITION NO. 4045

The object of this suit is to acquire by condemnation certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, Maryland, belonging to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., Trustee, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries and the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

The State Roads Commission of Maryland is charged with the construction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State of Maryland.

That they have determined it to be necessary and proper to acquire for the purposes referred to in said Petition, and in connection with the construction and maintenance of the highway system of the State, certain tracts or parcels of land situate in the Twentieth Election District of Allegany County, consisting of 1.20 acres, more or less, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on the attached Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, and also all that property outside said lines, outlined by shading as shown and/or indicated on the attached Plat No. 22158 consisting of 2.23 acres, more or less, and .067 acres, more or less, for slope and drainage easements, as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

TOGETHER with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, alleys, ways, waters, roads, privileges, appurtenances and advantages to the same belonging or in anywise appertaining, together with the right or easement to create, use and maintain on the land shown hatched thus on the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, insofar as their property rights extend, such drainage structures and facilities as are necessary to adequately drain the roadway and/or adjacent property and such slopes as are necessary to retain the said roadway and/or adjacent property, it being understood that at such time as the contour of the land over which this right or easement is acquired is changed so that this easement required for slopes is no longer necessary to support or protect the property hereby to be acquired in fee simple, then said easement for slopes shall cease to be effective, together with the right to create, use and maintain on or across the adjacent land of the defendants, such waterways and/or inlets and outlets as are necessary for the drainage structures indicated in the legend shown in the left hand corner of the hereinbefore mentioned Plats Nos. 15668, 22158, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Cash Valley Road, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with any right, title and interest of the defendants in and to the existing bed of Maryland Route #36, lying between the lines marked "Right of Way Line" as shown on Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428, together with the perpetual right to erect and maintain between October 1st and April 1st of each and every year, on the adjacent land of the defendants, within one hundred feet of the land hereby condemned in fee simple, snow fences, provided that said snow fences shall not interfere with the construction and use of buildings now erected or hereafter erected, with growing crops, or roadways, together with all the right whatsoever of vehicular ingress and egress between the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across the right of way lines which are marked "Throughout This Portion Of The Right Of Way All Vehicular Access Is Denied", to the end that there never will be any vehicular access to or from the highway and the remaining property of the defendants across those portions of the right of way lines which are so marked on the beforementioned Plats Nos. 15668, 15669 and 16428.

The Petition further states that the said property is now held under the provisions of a Will of Joseph C. Corrigan, deceased to Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company, Trustee, probated on March 14, 1947 in Liber No. "V", Folio 420, among the Will Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

(a) The property hereby sought to be condemned is subject to the lien of real estate taxes levied by and due the County Commissioners for Allegany County.

That the land and property is sought to be condemned in connection with the State System of Roads and Bridges, and especially for the construction of Maryland Route 36, from U. S. Route 40 to Corriganville in Allegany County, Maryland.

That the Petitioner is unable to make an agreement with the defendants and that the Petitioner has deposited a check under the provisions of Chapter 59 of the Acts of 1956, in the amount of Six Hundred Thirty and are herewith depositing an additional check in the sum of One Thousand, One hundre Seventy, making a total of One Thousand Eight Hundred ($1,800.00) Dollars, payable to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, to the use of the aforesaid defendants, in the hands of the said Clerk, in conformity with the provisions of Article 89B, Section 9, Public General Laws of Maryland, said Petitioner deeming the said sum to be the fair value of the land taken and damages done to the property, and that it is in the public interest and necessary for them to take possession immediately upon depositing said money and that they are taking possession for the aforesaid purposes.

That your Petitioner is unable to designate by name all persons having an interest in the hereinbefore described parcel of land by reason of the indefinite nature of same, and your Petitioner accordingly makes parties to this proceeding, All Residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, to the end that all of their right, title and interest of whatever extent or character may be divested of them and vested in the State Roads Commission of Maryland, acting for and on behalf of the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREUPON ORDERED by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, this 3 day of June, 1960, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Allegany County, State of Maryland, once a week in each of four successive weeks before the 7th day of July, 1960, shall give notice to the Defendants, All residents of the Town of Corriganville, Beneficiaries, of the substance and object of the petition and to appear in the Circuit Court for Allegany County on or before the 9th day of August, 1960, and file their answer or other initial pleading in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Cumberland, Maryland, and to show cause, if any they may have, why the said property or said Defendants' interest therein should not be condemned as prayed in said Petition.

Market Suffers Second Setback In Nine Sessions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks suffered their second setback in nine sessions Tuesday but the loss on average was modest.

Norfolk & Western, which tacked on 5/8, and the Nickel Plate, have agreed on merger terms, but the Central followed up that action with a request to the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the recent rash of planned mergers within the industry.

Ford stood out in the autos with a gain of more than a point. The issue was dubbed a "stock for action" by a leading advisory and investment service. Chrysler dropped 1¾ and American Motors a small fraction. General Motors was unchanged.

Market Suffers Second Setback In Nine Sessions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks suffered their second setback in nine sessions Tuesday but the loss on average was modest.

Utilities bucked the general downtrend with a gain of 0.29 to 91.79, their 10th consecutive rise on average and best closing level since Aug. 17, 1959.

Norfolk & Western, which tacked on ⅝, and the Nickel Plate, have agreed on merger terms, but the Central followed up that action with a request to the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the recent rash of planned mergers within the industry.

Ford stood out in the autos with a gain of more than a point. The issue was dubbed a "stock for action" by a leading advisory and investment service. Chrysler dropped 1¾ and American Motors a small fraction. General Motors was unchanged.

City Is Lashed By Wind, Rain

Heavy Property Damage Caused

The fury of a wind, rain, hail and electrical storm which was unleashed here yesterday for about 15 minutes caused extensive property damage to homes as trees were uprooted and roofs were blown off dwellings. No one was reported injured.

The storm seemed to have caused the most damage along Washington and Fayette streets on West Side, Columbia Avenue in North End, and in Bowman's Addition.

A number of windows were reported broken by the wind and homes were soaked inside by the heavy rain.

Over half an inch of rain swept by high winds fell in Cumberland during the storm period. Sewers were unable to carry off the sudden downpour and water was running down streets from curb to curb.

Auto traffic as halted at the subway along Greene Street near the West Side fire station as leaves and debris clogged the drainage system. The Wineow Street subway was also impassable for some time until the water was able to drain off.

Cemeteries Damaged

One resident described the SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery off Fayette Street as a shambles. The high winds uprooted large trees and washed out roads in the cemetery.

Rose Hill Cemetery also was hit by the storm, which knocked over trees and damaged the roads in the cemetery.

At 842 Columbia Avenue the back porch was blown away from the double house and the roof was carried across the street and landed between two parked cars. A man was in one of the cars but was not hurt.

Mrs. Belmont M. Robinette, who lives at that address, said her kitchen was flooded about three inches deep.

Large trees fell prey to the high winds and quite a few were uprooted. A large tree was uprooted in front of 713 Fayette Street at the home of William H. Buchholtz. Another tree across the street was uprooted.

Tree Mashes Car

At 1 South Terrace a tree was blown over and caused extensive damage to an automobile parked at that address. A large tree at the end of the B&O overpass on Cumberland Street was toppled in the high winds.

Fire Chief Leo Emerick said a house trailer owned by Samuel McKay was blown off its foundation and torn apart, landing about 40 feet away on another man's lot. No one was injured.

The upper section of that community was without electric power last night and the volunteers borrowed portable lighting equipment from the LaVale volunteers.

While the volunteers from Bowman's Addition were checking on a call which turned out to be a false alarm, they called for assistance from Bedford Road firefighters who extinguished a tree fire near a church in that community.

Volunteers used three power saws to cut away trees which had blocked traffic on two avenues in Bowman's Addition. Fallen wires were blamed.

The roof of an outbuilding was torn loose and sailed over his garage. Headlights of his parked truck were damaged when a large tree fell on the vehicle in the driveway. One of his gasoline pumps also was damaged.

Gardens were destroyed by hailstones as large as hickory nuts. The storm, which hit about 4:35 p. m., lasted about 15 minutes.

Piles Of Hailstones

Three hours afterwards hailstones remained in some sections of the city. A resident at 620 Columbia Avenue reported that hail was piled up about a foot deep on his front porch and he had to use a shovel to remove the hail from his door.

Leaves were chopped into small bits by the high winds and were hurled against the sides of second and third stories of homes 20 to 40 feet away from the trees.

Water flowed in North Centre Street from curb to curb from Frederick Street to Baltimore Street and a steady stream flowed into Baltimore Street for some time after the storm abated.

Flags placed in the business district in observance of Flag Day were bent to the ground during the lashing storm and remained drooping after the force of the wind bent the metal poles.

Street Crews Working

The City Street Department began calling crews out at 5:15 p. m. as reports of damage began to pour in, and had four emergency crews on duty within minutes.

Power Lines, Phone Service Hit By Storm

Utility Crews Plan Work Through Night

Yesterday afternoon's severe wind and rain storm disrupted electric and telephone service to the West Side of Cumberland, along the McMullen Highway and in the Bowman's Addition section.

Charles H. Smith, wire chief here for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, reported last night 70 lines were out of service, affecting between 150 and 200 customers.

Mr. Johnston said most of the PE damage was caused by trees which were picked up by the strong winds and blown across power lines. Major damage was caused on the West Side of the city and in Bowman's Addition.

Power service also was reported disrupted in the Hyndman and Clearville areas of nearby Pennsylvania.

Mr. Johnston said PE had 50 men working last night and they would continue to work through the night and until all service is restored. Street lights were out on the West Side last night, but PE crews were concentrating their efforts to restore service to homes.

The phone company said most of its trouble also was caused by falling trees, but several utility poles were directly hit by lighting along McMullen Highway.

Most of the phone trouble was confined to the Washington-Fayette Street section of Cumberland, along Valley Road and McMullen Highway to Cresaptown.

C&P crews were to continue working through the night or until the trouble was cleared. About 18 men were out working on the phone lines.

Youth Sought In Car Thefts Arrested Here

The teenager advised local authorities that he escaped from a Pennsylvania detention home near Warren, Pa., on June 6. After making his getaway from the institution he reportedly, took a car in Warren, the vehicle was wrecked near Indiana where the car in which he was arrested yesterday, was stolen.

Officer Nelson said the youth also admitted ransacking a car at Deep Creek Lake in nearby Garrett County where he removed a jacket. He stated that he sold tires along the way to obtain gasoline.

The local FBI agent moved into the case due to the interstate transportation of the stolen vehicle.

Two local teenagers were with the Pennsylvania youth when he was arrested. The two were detained by authorities, but released after questioning.

Missionary Is Rescued

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A U.S. Marine helicopter Tuesday removed two American missionaries, a Chinese nurse and their Chinese chauffeur from a mile-high mountain village where they had been marooned four days by heavy rains and landslides.

Rescued were Sister Antonia Marie, a doctor-nun from Stockbridge, Mass., Brother Francis Wempe, of Cumberland, Md., Mrs. Le Chia-Bi, a Chinese nurse, and Joseph Yuan, car driver.

The rescue mission involved a 210-mile round trip. The rescuers faced the twin hazards of poor flying weather and the menacing peaks of the Hai-An Mountain range along the east coast of Formosa.

After The Storm

Rig Operator Is Freed In Tot's Death

Girl Crushed Under Wheels

The driver of a tractor-trailer which crushed a little girl to death yesterday on a parking lot at Midway, Bedford, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was exonerated last night by an inquest held in Bedford.

Ray Arnold Stringer, 30, of Southgate, Mich., driver of the rig, was cleared of a manslaughter charge during the inquest held in the office of Dr. J. A. Kniesley, deputy coroner at Bedford.

Police said the mother was knocked to the ground, pulling the child under the rear wheels. The wheels rolled over the child's chest.

Public Report Offered On Medical Missions

Dr. Robert A. Hingson, Cleveland, Ohio, will deliver a lecture of interest to church people, on Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Second Baptist Church, Grand Avenue and Oldtown Road.

Professor of anesthesia at Western Reserve University School of Medicine, Dr. Hingson will speak on his trip, as part of an inter-racial and interdenominational team of physicians who toured Asia and Africa in 1958. The lecture will be augmented by motion picture film.

The tour by the medical team was sponsored by the Baptist World Alliance, and included a comprehensive survey of medical mission needs in the areas visited.

Entitled, "Project: Brother's Keeper," the team visited 100 hospitals, performed or advised on 120 operations and delivered 128 medical lectures to audiences totaling 5,500. Six doctors, a nurse, two photographers and some members of their families comprised the unit and the tour lasted about three months.

The group distributed more than $100,000 worth of drugs contributed by American pharmaceutical firms, participated in 47 conferences with national government and health leaders, administered 20,000 vaccinations by new methods and brought devotional addresses to 96 audiences.

The doctors returned to the United States with a series of recommendations regarding missionary medicine, most important of which was the creation of a pool of American physicians ready to serve abroad in emergencies or to provide vacation leave for overseas staff members. Financing of the world tour was largely by a grant from the Jarman Foundation of Nashville, Tenn.

The appearance here of Dr. Hingson is jointly sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society and the Western District Baptist Brotherhood. Dr. W. Royce Hodges, who initiated the idea, said that persons of all faiths are invited to attend.

Harry Fuller, Frostburg, president of the Western District Baptist Brotherhood, is in charge of program arrangements. As an added feature, a local male quartet will sing.

Close Is Elected

James H. Close, of Frostburg, was elected treasurer of the Mine Inspectors' Institute of America convening at Louisville, Ky.

Harry A. Schrecengost, a technical assistant of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, said about half of the 87,837 fatalities in mines in the past 54 years were because of rock and coal fall hazards.

Local Woman Injured In Auto Crash

Vehicles Collide In Wineow Subway

A 53-year-old local woman was taken to a local hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from injuries sustained in a two-car collision in the Wineow Street subway. Both cars were damaged considerably, police said.

Mrs. Hattie R. Johnson, of 1404 Virginia Avenue, driver of one of the cars, suffered an injury to the bridge of her nose and also a right eye injury. She was treated at the hospital and later taken to her home by police.

Driver of the other car was William H. Griffin of RD 1, Ridgeley, who apparently was not hurt, according to police, who said the accident occurred at 1:55 p. m. about 12 feet inside the east end of the subway.

Mrs. Johnson was traveling east and her car slipped down onto the drainage ditch in the subway hit the wall of the structure and careened into the path of the Griffin car traveling in the opposite direction.

State Trooper George Wachter, who was in the vicinity at the time of the accident, directed traffic until city police arrived. Police Officers Charles Cubbage and Louis Downey investigated.

Angus Campbell Pleads Guilty To Assault

Companions Found Guilty On Count

Angus Linwood Campbell, 23, of Slabtown, whose trial on a rape charge last Thursday ended with a hung jury in Allegany County Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley to simple assault, the third count in the criminal information upon which he was tried.

Earl E. Manges, Campbell's attorney, made the guilty plea on the simple assault count with the understanding that State's Attorney James S. Getty would move for dismissal of the two most serious counts of rape and assault with intent to rape the 44-year-old Cumberland woman in the early hours of May 16.

Just before the action on Campbell's case, Judge Fraley convicted Campbell's two companions, Thomas Birmingham, 21, of Mt. Savage, and Donald Klosterman, 24, of 314 Washington Street, on the lesser count of simple assault. He found them not guilty of assault with intent to rape the 44-year-old woman.

Birmingham and Klosterman, both represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, had been tried Tuesday, June 7, and Judge Fraley heard the closing arguments in their case last Thursday.

The criminal information upon which they were tried contained only two counts, assault with intent to rape, and simple assault.

Campbell was tried last Thursday on a criminal information containing three counts, rape, assult with intent to rape and assault. The all-male jury which heard the case deliberated nearly seven hours but being hopelessly deadlocked was excused shortly before midnight Thursday.

Judge Fraley remanded all three to the County Jail, where they have been lodged since May 16, pending the completion of an investigation by James Lewis, probation and parole officer.

Mr. Getty indicated yesterday afternoon that the victim of the assault was reluctant to appear in another trial. That is why he agreed to accept a plea of guilty to the lesser count. Conviction for simple assault calls for an indeterminate sentence. It is understood that the Maryland Court of Appeals has ruled that 20 years for simple assault is not excessive.

Payroll Hikes Boost State's Hospital Costs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Higher payroll costs are named by the Hospital Council of Maryland as a major reason why it takes more money to go to a hospital.

John Baldwin Rich, president of the council, said a survey of 33 general hospitals throughout the state shows that 72 per cent of the increased cost in 1958-9 was due to payroll hikes.

From 1958 to 1959 operational costs for the 33 hospitals went up $6,018,541, of which $4,354,035 went to higher salaries.

The 1959 total expenses amounted to $68,460,507, of which $43,435,609 was paid in wages and salaries. Rich said that the state's commerce and industry, by comparison, has payroll costs of only 30 per cent of its operation.

Per patient cost per day rose from $28.49 to $30.57 during the 1958-9 period.

Rich said that as a result, 10 Maryland hospitals have had to raise rates since Jan. 1 and others are considering the possibility.

Progress Is Made On Street Project

The Cumberland Contracting Company plans to complete resurfacing Oldtown Road today and to move to Fayette Street Thursday morning.

The work will be completed early this afternoon, weather permitting, and equipment will be moved to Fayette Street, where work is scheduled to begin at the Dingle.

Former Union Employes Are Acquitted

Local 568 Castigated For Poor Business

Two former employes of Local 568, Ironworkers Union here, were found not guilty of embezzlement of union funds by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in Allegany County Circuit Court but the judge castigated the union for its unbusinesslike methods.

Tried first was Mrs. Ruth Swain, 538 Fort Avenue, former cashier. She was indicted in April on a charge of embezzling $6,662 from Local 568 between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958.

After four witnesses were called by State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, the state rested. When John M. Robb, the court-appointed attorney for Mrs. Swain, moved for a directed verdict for his client, Judge Fraley granted the motion.

"Almost Unbelievable"

"It is almost unbelievable that union business has been carried on in such a fashion," Judge Fraley asserted in finding the woman not guilty.

"There isn't any question at all but that the whole mess arose from poor office arrangements and poor office help," Judge Fraley observed.

"It is ridiculous to think that in the operation of a business, and the operation of a union is a business, they would permit funds to be bandied around in such a fashion as they were in this case," Judge Fraley added.

The second trial, yesterday afternoon, involved George E. Clark, former financial secretary and business agent of Local 568, who was charged with embezzlement of $3,338.25 during the same period.

The state called five witnesses in Clark's trial. One of them was Arthur C. Crum, local certified public accountant, whose audit of the union's books showed a shortage of $12,053.25 between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958.

Other state witnesses were Vernon Livengood, present president and treasurer of Local 568; George Wayne Logsdon, 32, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., a former steward of Local 568; Samuel Philip Jr., Meyersdale, Pa., present financial secretary and business agent of the union, and Mrs. Swain.

Confusing Work

Mrs. Swain explained that it was quite confusing working in the Local 568 office in the Labor Temple on South Liberty Street. She would receive money from individual union members, from Clark when he would come in from the field, and from stewards, who usually visited the office on Saturdays.

She said she placed the money in a large envelope in her desk but had no key to lock the desk. If she would go out to lunch she would lock the envelope in a file cabinet. She asserted that the office was noisy and crowded and that members of other unions such as plumbers, teamsters, electricians and engineers often visited the office. Often the visitors would be somewhat under the influence of alcohol, she added.

After the state rested, Thomas N. Berry and Harry I. Stegmaier, Clark's attorneys, moved for a directed verdict for their client. When Judge Fraley denied their motion, they called Clark to the stand.

Clark, who lives at RFD 1, Ridgeley, said that his formal education stopped in the eighth grade and that he knew nothing about bookkeeping. He said the monthly financial statements, which bore his signature, were prepared by Mrs. Swain.

On cross-examination, Mr. Mason got an admission from Clark that he had made union deposits during March 1958 when Mrs. Swain no longer worked in the office. Earlier, he had testified that he never banked any union funds although he often took them home over the weekend.

Clark acknowledged that he had signed 22 receipts dated March 29, 1958, totalling $210.50. He then was shown the financial statement for that month which did not list these receipts.

In finding Clark not guilty at the close of his trial, Judge Fraley stated that it was "almost unbelievable" that the union business was run in such a fashion. He described Clark as "utterly incapable" of conducting the office of financial secretary although thousands of dollars passed through that office every year.

Although he expressed sympathy for the efforts of Mr. Getty and Mr. Mason in presenting the confusing testimony, he concluded that he would have to find Clark not guilty.

The fury of a wind, rain, hail and electrical storm which was unleashed here yesterday for about 15 minutes caused extensive property damage to homes as trees were uprooted and roofs were blown off dwellings. No one was reported injured.

The storm seemed to have caused the most damage along Washington and Fayette streets on West Side, Columbia Avenue in North End, and in Bowman's Addition.

A number of windows were reported broken by the wind and homes were soaked inside by the heavy rain.

Over half an inch of rain swept by high winds fell in Cumberland during the storm period. Sewers were unable to carry off the sudden downpour and water was running down streets from curb to curb.

Auto traffic as halted at the subway along Greene Street near the West Side fire station as leaves and debris clogged the drainage system. The Wineow Street subway was also impassable for some time until the water was able to drain off.

Cemeteries Damaged

One resident described the SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery off Fayette Street as a shambles. The high winds uprooted large trees and washed out roads in the cemetery.

Rose Hill Cemetery also was hit by the storm, which knocked over trees and damaged the roads in the cemetery.

A tin roof blew off the home of L. N. Duncan, 638 Washington Street, and was carried across the street by the wind.

At 842 Columbia Avenue the back porch was blown away from the double house and the roof was carried across the street and landed between two parked cars. A man was in one of the cars but was not hurt.

Mrs. Belmont M. Robinette, who lives at that address, said her kitchen was flooded about three inches deep.

Large trees fell prey to the high winds and quite a few were uprooted. A large tree was uprooted in front of 713 Fayette Street at the home of William H. Buchholtz. Another tree across the street was uprooted.

Tree Mashes Car

At 1 South Terrace a tree was blown over and caused extensive damage to an automobile parked at that address. A large tree at the end of the B&O overpass on Cumberland Street was toppled in the high winds.

Fire Chief Leo Emerick said a house trailer owned by Samuel McKay was blown off its foundation and torn apart, landing about 40 feet away on another man's lot. No one was injured.

The upper section of that community was without electric power last night and the volunteers borrowed portable lighting equipment from the LaVale volunteers.

While the volunteers from Bowman's Addition were checking on a call which turned out to be a false alarm, they called for assistance from Bedford Road firefighters who extinguished a tree fire near a church in that community.

Volunteers used three power saws to cut away trees which had blocked traffic on two avenues in Bowman's Addition. Fallen wires were blamed.

James H. Brotemarkle, who operates a service station in that section, said at least five trees were uprooted on his property.

The roof of an outbuilding was torn loose and sailed over his garage. Headlights of his parked truck were damaged when a large tree fell on the vehicle in the driveway. One of his gasoline pumps also was damaged.

Gardens were destroyed by hailstones as large as hickory nuts. The storm, which hit about 4:35 p. m., lasted about 15 minutes.

Piles Of Hailstones

Three hours afterwards hailstones remained in some sections of the city. A resident at 620 Columbia Avenue reported that hail was piled up about a foot deep on his front porch and he had to use a shovel to remove the hail from his door.

Leaves were chopped into small bits by the high winds and were hurled against the sides of second and third stories of homes 20 to 40 feet away from the trees.

Water flowed in North Centre Street from curb to curb from Frederick Street to Baltimore Street and a steady stream flowed into Baltimore Street for some time after the storm abated.

Flags placed in the business district in observance of Flag Day were bent to the ground during the lashing storm and remained drooping after the force of the wind bent the metal poles.

Street Crews Working

The City Street Department began calling crews out at 5:15 p. m. as reports of damage began to pour in, and had four emergency crews on duty within minutes.

Andrew Heller, street superintendent, was in charge of the crews which immediately began clearing up the storm debris.

Utility Crews Plan Work Through Night

Yesterday afternoon's severe wind and rain storm disrupted electric and telephone service to the West Side of Cumberland, along the McMullen Highway and in the Bowman's Addition section.

Garland L. Johnston, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company, said an estimated 800 customers were out of service.

Charles H. Smith, wire chief here for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, reported last night 70 lines were out of service, affecting between 150 and 200 customers.

Mr. Johnston said most of the PE damage was caused by trees which were picked up by the strong winds and blown across power lines. Major damage was caused on the West Side of the city and in Bowman's Addition.

Power service also was reported disrupted in the Hyndman and Clearville areas of nearby Pennsylvania.

Mr. Johnston said PE had 50 men working last night and they would continue to work through the night and until all service is restored. Street lights were out on the West Side last night, but PE crews were concentrating their efforts to restore service to homes.

The phone company said most of its trouble also was caused by falling trees, but several utility poles were directly hit by lighting along McMullen Highway.

Most of the phone trouble was confined to the Washington-Fayette Street section of Cumberland, along Valley Road and McMullen Highway to Cresaptown.

C&P crews were to continue working through the night or until the trouble was cleared. About 18 men were out working on the phone lines.

Youth Sought In Car Thefts Arrested Here

Pennsylvania authorities are expected to arrive here today to pick up a 16-year-old youth from Sheffield, Pa., who was arrested in connection with a stolen automobile case.

The teenager advised local authorities that he escaped from a Pennsylvania detention home near Warren, Pa., on June 6. After making his getaway from the institution he reportedly, took a car in Warren, the vehicle was wrecked near Indiana where the car in which he was arrested yesterday, was stolen.

Officer Nelson said the youth also admitted ransacking a car at Deep Creek Lake in nearby Garrett County where he removed a jacket. He stated that he sold tires along the way to obtain gasoline.

The local FBI agent moved into the case due to the interstate transportation of the stolen vehicle.

Two local teenagers were with the Pennsylvania youth when he was arrested. The two were detained by authorities, but released after questioning.

Missionary Is Rescued

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A U.S. Marine helicopter Tuesday removed two American missionaries, a Chinese nurse and their Chinese chauffeur from a mile-high mountain village where they had been marooned four days by heavy rains and landslides.

Rescued were Sister Antonia Marie, a doctor-nun from Stockbridge, Mass., Brother Francis Wempe, of Cumberland, Md., Mrs. Le Chia-Bi, a Chinese nurse, and Joseph Yuan, car driver.

The rescue mission involved a 210-mile round trip. The rescuers faced the twin hazards of poor flying weather and the menacing peaks of the Hai-An Mountain range along the east coast of Formosa.

After The Storm

Rig Operator Is Freed In Tot's Death

Girl Crushed Under Wheels

The driver of a tractor-trailer which crushed a little girl to death yesterday on a parking lot at Midway, Bedford, on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was exonerated last night by an inquest held in Bedford.

The victim was five-year-old Marian Barbara Long of Mobile, Ala., who was killed when the tractor-trailer backed over her.

Ray Arnold Stringer, 30, of Southgate, Mich., driver of the rig, was cleared of a manslaughter charge during the inquest held in the office of Dr. J. A. Kniesley, deputy coroner at Bedford.

The accident was termed unavoidable and the driver was exonerated.

Police said the child was standing along the side of the rig with her mother, Mrs. Nancy Long, 37.

Police said the mother was knocked to the ground, pulling the child under the rear wheels. The wheels rolled over the child's chest.

Public Report Offered On Medical Missions

Dr. Robert A. Hingson, Cleveland, Ohio, will deliver a lecture of interest to church people, on Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Second Baptist Church, Grand Avenue and Oldtown Road.

Professor of anesthesia at Western Reserve University School of Medicine, Dr. Hingson will speak on his trip, as part of an inter-racial and interdenominational team of physicians who toured Asia and Africa in 1958. The lecture will be augmented by motion picture film.

The tour by the medical team was sponsored by the Baptist World Alliance, and included a comprehensive survey of medical mission needs in the areas visited.

Entitled, "Project: Brother's Keeper," the team visited 100 hospitals, performed or advised on 120 operations and delivered 128 medical lectures to audiences totaling 5,500. Six doctors, a nurse, two photographers and some members of their families comprised the unit and the tour lasted about three months.

The group distributed more than $100,000 worth of drugs contributed by American pharmaceutical firms, participated in 47 conferences with national government and health leaders, administered 20,000 vaccinations by new methods and brought devotional addresses to 96 audiences.

The doctors returned to the United States with a series of recommendations regarding missionary medicine, most important of which was the creation of a pool of American physicians ready to serve abroad in emergencies or to provide vacation leave for overseas staff members. Financing of the world tour was largely by a grant from the Jarman Foundation of Nashville, Tenn.

The appearance here of Dr. Hingson is jointly sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Medical Society and the Western District Baptist Brotherhood. Dr. W. Royce Hodges, who initiated the idea, said that persons of all faiths are invited to attend.

Harry Fuller, Frostburg, president of the Western District Baptist Brotherhood, is in charge of program arrangements. As an added feature, a local male quartet will sing.

Close Is Elected

James H. Close, of Frostburg, was elected treasurer of the Mine Inspectors' Institute of America convening at Louisville, Ky.

Harry A. Schrecengost, a technical assistant of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, said about half of the 87,837 fatalities in mines in the past 54 years were because of rock and coal fall hazards.

Local Woman Injured In Auto Crash

Vehicles Collide In Wineow Subway

A 53-year-old local woman was taken to a local hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from injuries sustained in a two-car collision in the Wineow Street subway. Both cars were damaged considerably, police said.

Mrs. Hattie R. Johnson, of 1404 Virginia Avenue, driver of one of the cars, suffered an injury to the bridge of her nose and also a right eye injury. She was treated at the hospital and later taken to her home by police.

Driver of the other car was William H. Griffin of RD 1, Ridgeley, who apparently was not hurt, according to police, who said the accident occurred at 1:55 p. m. about 12 feet inside the east end of the subway.

Mrs. Johnson was traveling east and her car slipped down onto the drainage ditch in the subway hit the wall of the structure and careened into the path of the Griffin car traveling in the opposite direction.

State Trooper George Wachter, who was in the vicinity at the time of the accident, directed traffic until city police arrived. Police Officers Charles Cubbage and Louis Downey investigated.

Angus Campbell Pleads Guilty To Assault

Companions Found Guilty On Count

Angus Linwood Campbell, 23, of Slabtown, whose trial on a rape charge last Thursday ended with a hung jury in Allegany County Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty before Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley to simple assault, the third count in the criminal information upon which he was tried.

Earl E. Manges, Campbell's attorney, made the guilty plea on the simple assault count with the understanding that State's Attorney James S. Getty would move for dismissal of the two most serious counts of rape and assault with intent to rape the 44-year-old Cumberland woman in the early hours of May 16.

Just before the action on Campbell's case, Judge Fraley convicted Campbell's two companions, Thomas Birmingham, 21, of Mt. Savage, and Donald Klosterman, 24, of 314 Washington Street, on the lesser count of simple assault. He found them not guilty of assault with intent to rape the 44-year-old woman.

Birmingham and Klosterman, both represented by Attorney Thomas N. Berry, had been tried Tuesday, June 7, and Judge Fraley heard the closing arguments in their case last Thursday.

The criminal information upon which they were tried contained only two counts, assault with intent to rape, and simple assault.

Campbell was tried last Thursday on a criminal information containing three counts, rape, assault with intent to rape and assault. The all-male jury which heard the case deliberated nearly seven hours but being hopelessly deadlocked was excused shortly before midnight Thursday.

Judge Fraley remanded all three to the County Jail, where they have been lodged since May 16, pending the completion of an investigation by James Lewis, probation and parole officer.

Mr. Getty indicated yesterday afternoon that the victim of the assault was reluctant to appear in another trial. That is why he agreed to accept a plea of guilty to the lesser count. Conviction for simple assault calls for an indeterminate sentence. It is understood that the Maryland Court of Appeals has ruled that 26 years for simple assault is not excessive.

Payroll Hikes Boost State's Hospital Costs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Higher payroll costs are named by the Hospital Council of Maryland as a major reason why it takes more money to go to a hospital.

John Baldwin Rich, president of the council, said a survey of 33 general hospitals throughout the state shows that 72 per cent of the increased cost in 1958-9 was due to payroll hikes.

From 1958 to 1959 operational costs for the 33 hospitals went up $6,018,541, of which $4,354,035 went to higher salaries.

The 1959 total expenses amounted to $68,460,507, of which $43,435,609 was paid in wages and salaries. Rich said that the state's commerce and industry, by comparison, has payroll costs of only 30 per cent of its operation.

Per patient cost per day rose from $28.49 to $30.57 during the 1958-9 period.

Rich said that as a result, 10 Maryland hospitals have had to raise rates since Jan. 1 and others are considering the possibility.

Former Union Employes Are Acquitted

Local 568 Castigated For Poor Business

Two former employes of Local 568, Ironworkers Union here, were found not guilty of embezzlement of union funds by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in Allegany County Circuit Court but the judge castigated the union for its unbusinesslike methods.

Tried first was Mrs. Ruth Swain, 538 Fort Avenue, former cashier. She was indicted in April on a charge of embezzling $6,662 from Local 568 between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958.

After four witnesses were called by State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, the state rested. When John M. Robb, the court-appointed attorney for Mrs. Swain, moved for a directed verdict for his client, Judge Fraley granted the motion.

"Almost Unbelievable"

"It is almost unbelievable that union business has been carried on in such a fashion," Judge Fraley asserted in finding the woman not guilty.

"There isn't any question at all but that the whole mess arose from poor office arrangements and poor office help," Judge Fraley observed.

"It is ridiculous to think that in the operation of a business, and the operation of a union is a business, they would permit funds to be bandied around in such a fashion as they were in this case," Judge Fraley added.

The second trial, yesterday afternoon, involved George E. Clark, former financial secretary and business agent of Local 568, who was charged with embezzlement of $3,338.25 during the same period.

The state called five witnesses in Clark's trial. One of them was Arthur C. Crum, local certified public accountant, whose audit of the union's books showed a shortage of $12,053.25 between October 1, 1955, and March 31, 1958.

Other state witnesses were Vernon Livengood, present president and treasurer of Local 568; George Wayne Logsdon, 32, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., a former steward of Local 568; Samuel Philip Jr., Meyersdale, Pa., present financial secretary and business agent of the union, and Mrs. Swain.

Confusing Work

Mrs. Swain explained that it was quite confusing working in the Local 568 office in the Labor Temple on South Liberty Street. She would receive money from individual union members, from Clark when he would come in from the field, and from stewards, who usually visited the office on Saturdays.

She said she placed the money in a large envelope in her desk but had no key to lock the desk. If she would go out to lunch she would lock the envelope in a file cabinet. She asserted that the office was noisy and crowded and that members of other unions such as plumbers, teamsters, electricians and engineers often visited the office. Often the visitors would be somewhat under the influence of alcohol, she added.

After the state rested, Thomas N. Berry and Harry I. Stegmaier, Clark's attorneys, moved for a directed verdict for their client. When Judge Fraley denied their motion, they called Clark to the stand.

Clark, who lives at RFD 1, Ridgeley, said that his formal education stopped in the eighth grade and that he knew nothing about bookkeeping. He said the monthly financial statements, which bore his signature, were prepared by Mrs. Swain.

On cross-examination, Mr. Mason got an admission from Clark that he had made union deposits during March 1958 when Mrs. Swain no longer worked in the office. Earlier, he had testified that he never banked any union funds although he often took them home over the weekend.

Clark acknowledged that he had signed 22 receipts dated March 29, 1958, totalling $210.50. He then was shown the financial statement for that month which did not list these receipts.

In finding Clark not guilty at the close of his trial, Judge Fraley stated that it was "almost unbelievable" that the union business was run in such a fashion. He described Clark as "utterly incapable" of conducting the office of financial secretary although thousands of dollars passed through that office every year.

Although he expressed sympathy for the efforts of Mr. Getty and Mr. Mason in presenting the confusing testimony, he concluded that he would have to find Clark not guilty.
